College of Liberal Arts

The College of Liberal Arts offers doctoral programs in Anthropology, English, History, Political Science, Psychology and Sociology. Eight Masters of Arts degrees along with an M.F.A. in creative writing are also available. Ranging across the college's two subdivisions of the humanities and social sciences, these programs are ably staffed by nationally recognized scholars. These faculty members, who have earned advanced degrees from many of the nation's most prestigious universities, actively pursue research and creative activities that advance their professions and often benefit the larger community. These endeavors are especially important since graduate education requires an understanding of the methodology for producing knowledge as well as the mastery of bodies of information. Small classes and individual attention further enhance the learning experience of each of these programs. In short, prospective graduate students in the College of Liberal Arts may confidently expect to participate in programs characterized by rigorous intellectual pursuit and careful, conscientious instruction.

Doctor of Philosophy - Anthropology

Plan Description

Our program, which has a strong field and laboratory component in addition to coursework, is designed to prepare our graduates to work in a variety of settings, including academia, applied anthropology, cultural resources management, and other research settings.

For more information about your program, including your graduate program handbook and learning outcomes please visit the Degree Directory.

Plan Admission Requirements

Applications available on the UNLV Graduate College website.

1. All domestic and international applicants must review and follow the Graduate College Admission & Registration Requirements.

2. Normally, only applicants possessing a master's degree in Anthropology, or its equivalent, from an accredited institution are considered for admission. Students entering with an approved M.A. will not be required to go through the department's M.A. program, but they may be required to take remedial courses in the case of deficiencies. Applicants without an M.A. in Anthropology should have a minimum of 18 semester credit hours in Anthropology distributed among all traditional sub-disciplines of the field.

3. The applicant must have at least a 3.50 (A=4.00) grade point average for previous graduate work.

4. The applicant must submit an example of their previous research, preferably a published paper; a copy of their thesis or a relevant research paper is also acceptable.

5. The applicant must submit a detailed statement of intent (1-2 pages) outlining proposed research. In addition, the applicant must identify specific members of the faculty with whom they may wish to work.
6. Three letters of recommendation must be provided attesting to the applicant's ability to conduct doctoral level work. At least two of the letters must be from academic references.

7. GRE scores are required for admission. There is no required minimum score, but scores will be used in combination with other information in the application to evaluate the applicant. The exam must be taken within five years preceding the deadline for the application to be considered.

Students are accepted into a degree program as described in the Graduate Catalog. The faculty and corresponding sub-disciplines and sub-plans within the described programs are subject to change at any time.

Plan Requirements

See Subplan Requirements below.

Subplan 1 Requirements: Post-Master's Track

Total Credits Required: 42

Course Requirements

Required Courses - Credits: 8

ANTH 700A - Proseminar I
ANTH 700B - Proseminar II
ANTH 703 - Core Concepts in Anthropology
ANTH 770 - Quantitative Methods in Anthropology
ANTH 790 - Research Design, Professional Ethics, and Grant Writing for Anthropologists

Elective Courses - Credits: 22

Complete 22 credits of advisor-approved Anthropology electives.

Dissertation - Credits: 12

ANTH 798 - Dissertation

Degree Requirements

1. A minimum of 30 credits of approved work beyond the M.A. plus 12 credits of dissertation must be completed. This will not include remedial courses.

2. Seventeen of the 30 units presented for the degree must be courses with the prefix ANTH at the 700-level (excluding Directed Readings, Independent Study, and Dissertation).

3. The 42 credits and any remedial work must be passed with a grade of B- or better. Classes in which a student receives a C+ or lower will not count towards his or her degree.

4. Any student receiving a C+ or lower will be placed on academic probation. Failure to meet the requirements of probation will result in separation from the graduate program.

5. Within the 42 credits, there will be a cap of four credits each of Independent Study and Directed Readings, and 12 credits for the Dissertation.

6. In consultation with his/her advisor, a student will organize a dissertation committee of at least three departmental members. In addition, a fourth member from outside the department, known as the Graduate College Representative, must be appointed. An additional committee member may be added at the student and department's discretion. Please see Graduate College policy for committee appointment guidelines.

7. The student must pass a comprehensive examination. This exam will cover three topics, selected to relate to the student's dissertation research area. The topics will relate to an area of (a) theory, (b) methodological or topical specialty, and (c) culture area. Students who fail in any portion of the exam will be placed on probation and may retake that portion of the exam any time prior to the end of the semester (excluding summer) following that during which the exam was first taken. A second failure of any portion of the re-taken exam or failure to meet the conditions of probation will result in termination from the doctoral program.
8. After passing the doctoral comprehensive examination, the student must submit to the department a written dissertation proposal approved by the dissertation committee prior to the commencement of fieldwork or research. The student also must present a defense of this proposal to the academic community. After successfully completing these tasks, the student is advanced to candidacy.

9. The student will then conduct approved anthropological research to gather data needed for writing the dissertation. This may involve fieldwork, laboratory research, or research on a theoretical topic, but in any case must represent an original contribution to knowledge.

Graduation Requirements

1. The student must submit all required forms to the Graduate College and then apply for graduation up to two semesters prior to completing his/her degree requirements.

2. The student must submit and successfully defend his/her dissertation by the posted deadline. The defense must be advertised and is open to the public.

3. The student must submit his/her approved, properly formatted hard-copy dissertation to the Graduate College, and submit the approved electronic version to ProQuest by the posted deadline.

Subplan 2 Requirements: Post-Bachelor's Track

Total Credits Required: 75

Course Requirements

Required Courses - Credits: 11

ANTH 700A - Proseminar I
ANTH 700B - Proseminar II
ANTH 703 - Core Concepts in Anthropology
ANTH 770 - Quantitative Methods in Anthropology
ANTH 790 - Research Design, Professional Ethics, and Grant Writing for Anthropologists

Elective Courses - Credits: 16-22

Anthropology electives to be determined in consultation with your advisor. Students completing a thesis must complete a minimum of 16 credits of elective coursework, and students completing a professional paper must complete a minimum of 22 credits of elective coursework.

Culminating Experience - Credits: 6 (Optional)

ANTH 797 - Thesis

After successfully completing the requirements above, students are eligible to earn the Master of Arts in Anthropology.

Elective Courses - Credits: 30

Complete 30 credits of advisor-approved Anthropology electives.

Dissertation - Credits: 12

ANTH 798 - Dissertation

Degree Requirements

1. A minimum of 75 credits of approved work beyond the bachelor's must be completed. This will not include remedial courses.

2. A minimum of 33 credits of approved work beyond the bachelor's must be completed for the M.A. degree.

3. Fourteen (for students completing a thesis) or seventeen (for students completing a professional paper) of the 33 units presented for the M.A. degree must be courses with the prefix ANTH at the 700-level (excluding Directed Readings, Independent Study, and Thesis).

4. A minimum of 30 credits of approved work beyond the M.A. plus 12 credits of dissertation (42 credits total) must be completed for the Ph.D. degree.

5. Fifteen of the 30 units presented for the Ph.D. degree must be courses with the prefix ANTH at the 700-level (excluding Directed Readings and Independent Study).

6. The 75 credits and any remedial work must be passed with a grade of B- or better. Classes in which a student receives a C+ or lower will not count towards his or her degree.

7. Any student receiving a C+ or lower will be placed on academic probation. Failure to meet the requirements of probation will result in separation from the graduate program.

8. Within the 75 credits, there will be a cap of four credits each of Independent Study and Directed Readings, and 12 credits for the Dissertation.

9. In consultation with his/her advisor, a student will organize a dissertation committee of at least three departmental members. In addition, a fourth member from outside the department, known as the Graduate College Representative, must be appointed. An additional committee member may be added at the student and department’s discretion. Please see Graduate College policy for committee appointment guidelines.

10. In consultation with his/her advisor, and as approved by the student’s committee, the student will complete one of two options for an MA in Anthropology en route to receiving their PhD: a) write a publishable professional paper or b) write a thesis. In consultation with the student, the student’s committee will decide which option the student will take. Each of these options will require a committee defense and department defense.

11. The student must pass a comprehensive examination. This exam will cover three topics, selected to relate to the student’s dissertation research area. The topics will relate to an area of (a) theory, (b) methodological or topical specialty, and (c) culture area. Students who fail in any portion of the exam will be placed on probation and may retake that portion of the exam any time prior to the end of the semester (excluding summer) following that during which the exam was first taken. A second failure of any portion of the re-taken exam or failure to meet the conditions of probation will result in termination from the doctoral program.

12. After passing the doctoral comprehensive examination, the student must submit to the department a written dissertation proposal approved by the dissertation committee prior to the commencement of fieldwork or research. The student also must present a defense of this proposal to the academic community. After successfully completing these tasks, the student is advanced to candidacy.

13. The student will then conduct approved anthropological research to gather data needed for writing the dissertation. This may involve fieldwork, laboratory research, or research on a theoretical topic, but in any case must represent an original contribution to knowledge.

Graduation Requirements

1. The student must submit all required forms to the Graduate College and then apply for graduation up to two semesters prior to completing his/her degree requirements for both the Master’s and Doctoral portions of the program.

2. The student must submit and successfully defend his/her thesis or professional paper by the posted deadline. The defense must be advertised and is open to the public.

3. If a thesis is completed, the student must submit his/her approved, properly formatted hard-copy document to the Graduate College, and submit the approved electronic version to ProQuest by the posted deadline.

4. The student must submit and successfully defend his/her dissertation by the posted deadline. The defense must be advertised and is open to the public.

5. Student must submit his/her approved, properly formatted hard-copy dissertation to the Graduate College, and submit the approved electronic version to ProQuest by the posted deadline.

Plan Admission Requirements

Applications available on the UNLV Graduate College website.

1. All domestic and international applicants must review and follow the Graduate College Admission & Registration Requirements.
2. In addition to the general admission requirements established by the Graduate College, the applicant should have earned 18 semester credit hours in anthropology accepted by the department, with at least a 3.00 average in those courses. It is preferred that as many of the four subdisciplines as possible be represented among those courses and approximately one half of the 18 hours be at the upper-division level.
3. Applicants must submit a research paper representative of their undergraduate work. If the student did not major in anthropology as an undergraduate, a research paper in another field indicative of the student's ability is acceptable.
4. Applicants must also submit an explicit letter of intent.
5. GRE scores are required for admission. There is no required minimum score, but scores will be used in combination with other information in the application to evaluate the applicant. The exam must be taken within five years preceding the deadline for the application to be considered.

Anthropology Courses

AAS 636 - Politics of Racial Ambiguity
Credits 3
Interdisciplinary investigation of contemporary American black/white multiracial identities, including analyses and assessments of the multiracial identity movement in the United States.

Notes This course is crosslisted with AAS 436. Credit at the 600-level requires additional work.

ANTH 609 - Economic Anthropology
Credits 3
Comparative study of preliterate and peasant economic systems, with particular attention paid to the relation of these systems to the social and cultural arrangements of these societies.

Notes This course is crosslisted with ANTH 409. Credit at the 600-level requires additional work.

ANTH 617 - Evolution & Culture: 'Darwinian' Models of Culture
Credits 3
Humans depend on complex cultures for their survival. Why it is the case, how it is made possible and how fundamentally culture affects humans have always been essential focuses of the anthropological research. The courses will present the main models of cultural evolution found currently in the anthropological literature.

Notes This course is crosslisted with ANTH 417. Credit at the 600-level requires additional work.

Prerequisites Graduate standing.

ANTH 620 - Magic, Witchcraft, and Religion
Credits 3
Examines the ways non-western people experience "religion" in official and unofficial domains. Provides a conceptual framework for analyzing the way cultures outside the U.S. organize reality to gain an awareness of the interrelationship between cosmology, religion, and personhood and an appreciation of the cultural diversity found around the world.

Notes This course is crosslisted with ANTH 420. Credit at the 600-level requires additional work.
ANTH 622 - Psychological Anthropology
Credits 3
Examines how culture influences the development of character and conduct in non-western societies.
Provides cross-cultural research findings on socialization, aggression, sexual behavior, mental illness and social pathology. Research findings from small-scale and complex societies from around the globe are evaluated.
Same as ANTH 422
Notes This course is crosslisted with ANTH 422.
Credit at the 600-level requires additional work.

ANTH 626 - Medical Anthropology
Credits 3
Overview of medical anthropology, covering such topics as disease and human evolution, ecology of disease, and culture-centered approaches in the field, including ethnomedicine (cross-cultural conceptions of health and illness), healers in global perspective, and medicine practiced in clinical and public health settings in societies around the world.
Notes This course is crosslisted with ANTH 426.
Credit at the 600-level requires additional work.

ANTH 627 - Cultures and Cognition
Credits 3
Focuses on the interactions between culture, cognition and behavior. Explores a variety of non-western cultures to identify how social and psychological perspectives are formed and influence behavior. Models and case studies found in social sciences are used to discuss the relationship between cognition and cultural behaviors.
Notes This course is crosslisted with ANTH 427.
Credit at the 600-level requires additional work.
Prerequisites ANTH 101 or ANTH 102 or ANTH 105 or equivalent.

ANTH 630 - Anthropology and Ecology
Credits 3
Focuses on the biocultural processes by which people adapt to their environments around the world. Human genetic, developmental and behavioral responses to environments considered across a range of cultural contexts. Topics include human growth, reproduction, diet, disease, resource use and sociopolitical structures.
Notes This course is crosslisted with ANTH 430.
Credit at the 600-level requires additional work.

ANTH 633 - Theories of Cultural Change
Credits 3
Mechanisms of change such as invention, diffusion, revitalization movements, devolution, urbanization, and acculturation. In addition, forms of forcible change such as colonialism and conquest, rebellion and revolt covered.
Notes This course is crosslisted with ANTH 433.
Credit at the 600-level requires additional work.

ANTH 634 - Ethnohistory
Credits 3
Methodological study applying anthropological concepts to early written sources and recorded oral tradition. Cross-cultural comparisons.
Notes This course is crosslisted with ANTH 434.
Credit at the 600-level requires additional work.

ANTH 636 - History of Anthropology
Credits 3
History of the intellectual developments within anthropology.
Notes This course is crosslisted with ANTH 436.
Credit at the 600-level requires additional work.

ANTH 638 - Ethnographic Field Methods
Credits 3
Surveys methods and techniques of field work. Students do weekly ethnographic projects and write short reports.
Notes This course is crosslisted with ANTH 438.
Credit at the 600-level requires additional work.

ANTH 640B - Archaeology of the Great Basin
Credits 3
Explores the prehistory of the Great Basin and surrounding areas, including the Mojave Desert. Examines the Paleoindian, Archaic, and later prehistoric occupation of the region, focusing on the evidence archaeologists use to reconstruct past behavior and how the environment influenced prehistoric peoples in the area.
Notes This course is crosslisted with ANTH 440B.
Credit at the 600-level requires additional work.

ANTH 640C - Archaeology of the Southwest
Credits 3
Prehistory of the American Southwest, focusing on development of the Anasazi, Hohokam and Mogollon cultures and their antecedents 2000 B.C. to A.D. 1500.

Notes This course is crosslisted with ANTH 440C. Credit at the 600 level requires additional work.

ANTH 641B - Near Eastern and Mediterranean Prehistory
Credits 3
Reviews Near Eastern and Mediterranean archaeology from the earliest evidence of humans in the region through the origins and development of farming and food production. Examines foundations for civilization in Egypt and Mesopotamia and the colonization of islands of the Mediterranean Sea.

Notes This course is crosslisted with ANTH 441B. Credit at the 600-level requires additional work.

ANTH 643 - Environmental Archaeology
Credits 3
Examines human adaptations to various environments, techniques from the environmental sciences. Analysis of ancient human and environmental interactions stressing arid lands. Human impacts upon the landscape, constraints imposed by ecological variables, and techniques used in environmental reconstruction.

ANTH 644 - Bioarchaeology
Credits 3
Method and theory for the study of human remains in archaeological contexts.

Formerly ANTH 673

Notes This course is crosslisted with ANTH 444. Credit at the 600 level requires additional work.

ANTH 649A - Ceramic Analysis in Archaeology
Credits 3
Introduction to the laboratory analysis of archeological ceramics. Emphasizes theories and techniques used to reconstruct past human behavior from the study of prehistoric and historic ceramics.

Notes This course is crosslisted with ANTH 449A. Credit at the 600 level requires additional work.

ANTH 649B - Lithic Artifact Analysis
Credits 3

Designed to provide general background on lithics and lithic analysis. Explores lithic technology, typology, and interpretations of lithic assemblage variability.

Notes This course is crosslisted with ANTH 449B. Credit at the 600-level requires additional work.

ANTH 649D - Zooarchaeology Laboratory
Credits 3
Enables students to identify, document, analyze, interpret, and report archaeological animal bone assemblages. Addresses theoretical, methodological, and analytical issues that are significant in designing and conducting zooarchaeological research.

Formerly ANTH 649C

Notes This course is crosslisted with ANTH 449D. Credit at the 600 level requires additional work.
Prerequisites Consent of instructor

ANTH 654 - Ethnoarchaeology
Credits 3
Theoretical foundations, methods, and issues associated with an ethnoarchaeological approach. Explores present interactions of people within their environments and the formation, patterns, and meaning of the archaeological record.

Notes This course is crosslisted with ANTH 454. Credit at the 600 level requires additional work.
Prerequisites Consent of instructor

ANTH 655 - Archaeological Theory
Credits 3
Surveys major theoretical approaches used in archaeology. Examines historical development of these theories and discusses their practical application.

Notes This course is crosslisted with ANTH 455. Credit at the 600 level requires additional work.

ANTH 656 - Archaeology of Technology
Credits 3
Explores the methodological and theoretical developments in archaeological research on technology and the challenges of connecting materials with human behavior and intent in the past.

Notes This course is crosslisted with ANTH 456. Credit at the 600 level requires additional work.
Prerequisites Consent of instructor
ANTH 658 - Origins of Inequality: A Cross-cultural Perspective
Credits 3
This course uses origins of inequality to understand how societies and their culture developed differently across time and space. A cross-cultural emphasis enables the student to appreciate the factors responsible for the rise of different modes of sociopolitical organization around the globe and to realize the complexity of human experience.
Notes This course is crosslisted with ANTH 458. Credit at the 600-level requires additional work.

ANTH 662 - Human Osteology: Archaeological and Forensic Applications
Credits 4
Utilization of physical anthropological methods of bone analysis applied to the identification of human and non-human skeletal remains.
Notes This course is crosslisted with ANTH 462. Credit at the 600 level requires additional work.

ANTH 664 - Dental Anthropology: Archaeological and Forensic Applications
Credits 3
Dental morphology, growth and development, and dental variability in modern populations. Techniques used to reveal information about past diets, health, and behavior. Forensic odontology. Major stages in the evolution of the dentition, with particular focus on primate and human dental evolution. Lab fee required.
Notes This course is crosslisted with ANTH 464. Credit at the 600-level requires additional work.

ANTH 665 - Human Growth and Aging
Credits 3
Explores, how humans grow, mature, and age in a variety of non-western cultures. Addresses social and biological factors that shape peoples' decisions about when to begin reproducing, how many offspring to have, when to wean, and style of parenting, as well as those impacting physical age changes and lifespan.
Notes This course is crosslisted with ANTH 465. Credit at the 600-level requires additional work.

ANTH 667 - Health and Disease in Antiquity
Credits 3
Covers paleopathology, or, the study of disease in ancient populations. Provides an overview of morbidity and mortality over the last 20,000 years for many different populations from around the globe. Information on disease is drawn from human skeletal and mummified remains, and from archaeological reconstructions of lifestyle and diet.
Notes This course is crosslisted with ANTH 467. Credit at the 600-level requires additional work.

ANTH 669 - Evolution and Biology of Human Behavior
Credits 3
Reviews relevant theory and primary approaches—evolutionary psychology and behavioral ecology—for investigating human behavior from an evolutionary perspective. Topics include cooperation, mate choice, parenting, pair bonding, aggression, language and culture.
Notes This course is crosslisted with ANTH 469. Credit at the 600 level requires additional work.

ANTH 671 - Evolution of Human Sexuality
Credits 3
Examines human sexuality from an evolutionary perspective. Major themes include basics of evolutionary theory, comparisons with other non-human primates, cross-cultural and historical variation in human sexuality and consideration of the neuroendocrine bases of sexual behavior. Topics include sexual selection, mating systems, and sexual orientation.
Notes This course is crosslisted with ANTH 471. Credit at the 600-level requires additional work.

ANTH 672 - Hormones and Human Behavior
Credits 3
Covers the dynamic field of human hormones and behavior. Emphasis is given to human naturalistic and clinical studies. Cross-cultural and comparative nonhuman primate findings are highlighted. Topics addressed include sex differences, sexual behavior, parenting, aggression, and the stress response.
Notes This course is crosslisted with ANTH 472. Credit at the 600-level requires additional work. Prerequisites Equivalent of 3 credit hours in Physical Anthropology, Biology, or Psychology.

ANTH 673R - Anthropology of Violence
Credits 3
An overview on the history of aggression, violence and trauma in human groups. Interpersonal and institutional forms of violence are examined from an anthropological perspective. The goal of the course is to explore a number of theoretical frameworks used by anthropologists to understand violence.

Notes This course is crosslisted with ANTH 473. Credit at the 600-level requires additional work.

Prerequisites Graduate standing.

ANTH 675 - Evolutionary Medicine
Credits 3
This course provides an introduction to evolutionary medicine, a relatively new and exciting field that emphasizes the interplay between human evolutionary history, adaptation, and proximate mechanisms. Examples are drawn from societies around the world. Topics include growth, reproduction, diet, activity patterns, aging and infectious and chronic disease.

Notes This course is crosslisted with ANTH 475. Credit at the 600-level requires additional work.

ANTH 685 - Language and Culture
Credits 3
Examines the interaction of language and culture, focusing on basic aspects of linguistics, models for the study of language use, and intersections of language with gender, power, and status cross-culturally.

Notes This course is crosslisted with ANTH 485. Credit at the 600-level requires additional work.

ANTH 686 - Language and Gender
Credits 3
Examines from an anthropological perspective the ways in which language and gender intertwine. Explores how language emerges from, reproduces, and challenges ideas of gender and gendered practices cross-culturally. Topics covered include interaction of gender with race, identity and class in language use.

Notes This course is crosslisted with ANTH 486. Credit at the 600-level requires additional work.

ANTH 700A - Proseminar I
Credits 1
Orientation for entering anthropology graduate students. Presents the program's expectations and policies, and introduces students to faculty research and expertise within the department.

Grading S/F grading only.

Prerequisites Graduate standing/permission of instructor.

ANTH 700B - Proseminar II
Credits 1
Continuation of the orientation begun in ANTH 700A. Develops students' appreciation of professionalism and develops the skills necessary for academic presentations. Presents the current research of advanced anthropology graduate students.

Grading S/F grading only.

Prerequisites Graduate standing/permission of instructor.

ANTH 701 - Directed Reading in Anthropological Literature
Credits 1-4
Notes May be repeated to a maximum of six credits.

Grading S/F grading only.

ANTH 703 - Core Concepts in Anthropology
Credits 3
Course explores the intellectual foundations of critical thinking and practice in Anthropology (Cultural, Biological, Archaeology, and Linguistics). Examines anthropological theory as it has been manifested in studies of human evolution, cultural materialism, historical analysis, and cultural interpretation.

Prerequisites Graduate standing.

ANTH 735 - Seminar on Classic Ethnographies
Credits 3
Classic ethnographies read in the original, selected to represent a wide range of culture types, culture areas, and theoretical perspectives. Broadens and deepens students' control of the professional database, while exploring how data support theoretical constructs and how theory in turn informs ethnographic methods and descriptions.

Prerequisites Graduate standing.

ANTH 736 - Problems in North American Ethnology
Credits 3
Selected cases from Native North America used to learn logic and methods for resolving conflicts in ethnographic data and data interpretation. Impact of those arguments and decisions on significant current theoretical constructs pursued.

Prerequisites Graduate standing.
ANTH 741 - Seminar in Cultural Processes
Credits 3
Theories of culture change on selected topics.
Notes Topics to be announced. May be repeated to a maximum of 12 credits.
Prerequisites Consent of instructor.

ANTH 743 - Seminar in Method and Theory in Cultural Anthropology
Credits 3
Research and discussion of selected topics relating to data gathering, interpretation, or theoretical explanation in sociocultural anthropology. Specific topics and instructor vary.
Notes May be repeated to a maximum of six credits.

ANTH 744 - Identity, Culture and Power
Credits 3
Examines how transnational migration and globalization affect our understanding of identity, culture, and power relations. What is identity? Why isn't identity fixed? What is the relationship between the local and the global? Seminar explores these questions focusing on themes of identity, culture, and power.

ANTH 746 - Gender, Sexuality, Race and Flexible Citizenship
Credits 3
Analyzes how gender and sexuality converge with race and class, and how people negotiate gender, sexual and racial differences. Explores the concept of cultural citizenship among different ethnic groups in relation to sex/gender and race.
Prerequisites Graduate standing.

ANTH 749 - Archaeology of Colonialism in the Americas
Credits 3
Explores the archaeology and descendant experience of colonialism in the Americas. Examines archaeological, ethnohistoric, ethnographic, and oral historic data to explore the variability and patterns of the colonial process.
Prerequisites Permission of instructor

ANTH 751 - Seminar on Current Problems in Archaeology
Credits 3
Notes May be repeated to a maximum of six credits.

ANTH 753 - Seminar in Cultural Adaptations to Arid Environments
Credits 3
Addresses the problems of human cultural adaptations to arid environments, with special attention given to technological and social responses to these environments.
Prerequisites ACC 703

ANTH 754 - Archaeology and Paleoecology of the Great Basin
Credits 3
Examines paleoenvironments and prehistory of the Great Basin and intermountain west, including Nevada and surrounding states. Issues include Pleistocene and Holocene paleoenvironmental reconstruction, Paleoindian and Archaic adaptations, Fremont culture, and spread of Numic-speaking populations. Field trip.
Prerequisites Graduate standing or consent of instructor.

ANTH 755 - Seminar in Archaeological and Historic Preservation
Credits 3
Management of archaeological resources; laws and policies protecting archaeological sites, methods of identification, and evaluation of archaeological resources; the interface of archaeological preservation and archaeology as a scientific discipline.

ANTH 756 - Archaeology of Hunter-Gatherers
Credits 3
Course examines hunter-gatherers throughout the world, focusing on paleoenvironment, land use, subsistence, and social interaction.
Prerequisites Consent of instructor.

ANTH 757 - Seminar in Southwestern Archaeology
Credits 3
Examines the prehistoric societies of the American Southwest, including the Hohokam, Mogollon, and Anasazi; issues include origins, social organization, subsistence, production, distribution and exchange, and the dynamics of change in the region.
Prerequisites ANTH 418 or consent of instructor.

ANTH 758 - Seminar in Agricultural Origins
Credits 3
Examines the circumstances surrounding the transition from hunting and gathering to food production throughout the world. Evaluates both the theoretical framework and empirical database for understanding this transition and the consequences of the shift to agricultural production.

ANTH 761 - Seminar on Current Thought in Physical Anthropology
Credits 3
Topics to be announced.
Notes May be repeated to a maximum of six credits.
Prerequisites Consent of instructor.

ANTH 762 - Laboratory Seminar on Osteology
Credits 3
'Hands-on' class relevant to research and analysis in human osteology and palaeopathology. Laboratory analysis of osteological and palaeopathology materials available in the Physical Anthropology Laboratory. Methods of age, sex, ethnic determinations, discrete morphological, anthropometric, and palaeopathological research and analysis.
Prerequisites ANTH 462

ANTH 763 - Paleoanthropology
Credits 3
Current issues in and evidence for human biocultural evolution. Include finding, dating, and naming fossil hominids, the effect of climate on hominid evolution, as well as issues in paleobiology, functional anatomy, prehistoric archaeology, and geomorphology.
Prerequisites Consent of instructor.

ANTH 764 - Seminar: Medical Anthropology
Credits 3
Explores the evolution and cross-cultural understanding of human health, healing and disease. Includes extensive examination and critical evaluation of evolutionary, biocultural and culturally-centered approaches in medical anthropology.
Prerequisites Consent of instructor.

ANTH 770 - Quantitative Methods in Anthropology
Credits 3
Provides practical introduction to the uses of computers for statistical analysis, data gathering and storage, computer modeling and computer-assisted instruction as applies in anthropology. Every student carries out one or more projects requiring the use of computers.
Prerequisites MIS 101 or CSC 115 or equivalent or consent of instructor.

ANTH 790 - Research Design, Professional Ethics, and Grant Writing for Anthropologists
Credits 3
Class components include ethics relating to data acquisition and sharing, formulating cohesive and compelling research questions, and the mechanics of proposal preparation required in professional practice. All students will be required to prepare and present a research proposal.
Prerequisites Graduate standing or consent of instructor.

ANTH 796 - Cultural Resource Management Internship
Credits 3
Students work with an archaeologist both in field and office situations, focusing on identification and evaluation of sites; writing technical reports and examining the development of correspondence between federal agencies and contracting archaeologists.
Prerequisites One field class (ANTH 453, 485, 486) and one lab class (ANTH 452, 458) or one summer field school (ANTH 487, 488), senior or graduate standing and recommendation of UNLV faculty coordinator.

ANTH 797 - Thesis
Credits 3 – 6
Notes May be repeated but only six credits will be applied to the student's program.
Grading S/F grading only.

ANTH 798 - Dissertation
Credits 3 – 12
Notes May be repeated but only 12 credits will be applied to the student's program.
Grading S/F grading only.

Credits 1 – 4
Notes May be repeated to a maximum of six credits.
Grading S/F grading only.
English

The Department of English offers programs of study leading to the Master of Arts, Master of Fine Arts, and Doctor of Philosophy degrees. The M.A. program involves course work at the graduate level in English and American literature or in language studies. Work toward this degree is designed to supplement and complete the student's undergraduate study in the field of English and to familiarize the student with professional standards, methods of research, and modes of thought in the discipline. Possession of this degree normally leads to professional advancement for the secondary school or community college teacher; to a career in writing, publishing and editing; or to further study in English at the doctoral level.

The M.F.A. program is designed to be a three-year, intensive studio arts terminal degree with a strong international emphasis and requires the writing of a book-length creative thesis in either fiction or poetry. The objectives of the M.F.A. degree are to enable the student to master the craft of writing in the chosen genre to a publishable level; to train the student in both traditional literary topics and writing pedagogy to the end of a teaching career at the college or university level; and to provide the student with an international perspective on both the creation and publication of fiction or poetry and on the teaching and appreciation of literature.

The Ph.D. program is a highly specialized program designed to train a student for a career in teaching at the college or university level through the acquisition of skills in research, original thought, and academic writing. The doctoral program is focused on literary study although a concentration of six credits may be earned in composition studies. At the time of admission the student chooses, with the approval of her or his advisor, three areas in which to specialize: (1) a chronological period, (2) a literary genre, and (3), an additional chronological period, a major author chosen from outside the selected chronological period, or a special topic. All subsequent course work is devoted to developing a high degree of professional competence and knowledge in the three chosen areas of specialization.

Such knowledge is tested in a qualifying examination and is also the basis upon which the student writes a doctoral dissertation.

The department also offers a program leading to the degree of Doctor of Philosophy in English with a Creative Dissertation. This program centers on the study of English and American literature and is designed to train a student for a career in the teaching of English at the college or university level, as well as for a career in writing, editing, and publishing. The program of study includes course work in English and Creative Writing, a Qualifying Examination, and a Creative Dissertation. Differences in admission requirements and degree requirements between the two Ph.D. programs are indicated below. Additional details for the admission requirements and the degree requirements for each degree can be found on the English Department website.

Doctor of Philosophy - English

Plan Description

The Ph.D. program is a highly specialized program designed to train students for careers in teaching at the college or university level and to develop in them a capacity for research, original thought, and writing that ordinarily accompanies such careers. The doctoral program is focused on literary study although a concentration of six credits may be earned in composition studies. At the time of admission the student chooses three areas in which to specialize: (1) a chronological period, (2) a literary genre, and (3) either an additional chronological period, a major author chosen from outside the selected chronological period and approved by the graduate committee, or a special topic approved by the graduate committee. All subsequent course work is devoted to developing a high degree of professional competence and knowledge in the three chosen areas of specialization. Such knowledge is tested in a qualifying examination and is also the basis upon which the student writes a doctoral dissertation.

The department, in conjunction with the International Institute of Modern Letters, also offers a program leading to the degree of Doctor of Philosophy – English with a Creative Dissertation. This program centers on the study of English and American literature and is designed to train students for careers in the teaching of English at the college or university level, as well as for careers in writing, editing, and publishing. The program of study includes course work in English and Creative Writing, a Qualifying Examination, and a Creative Dissertation.

Differences in the requirements for admission and degree requirements between the two Ph.D. programs are indicated below. Additional details for the admission requirements and the degree requirements for each degree can be found on the English Department website.

For more information about your program, including your graduate program handbook and learning outcomes please visit the Degree Directory.

Learning outcomes for specific subplan tracks can be found below:

- Doctor of Philosophy - English
- Doctor of Philosophy - Creative Writing with Creative Dissertation

Plan Admission Requirements

Applications available on the UNLV Graduate College website.

1. All domestic and international applicants must review and follow the Graduate College Admission & Registration Requirements.

2. Applicants must possess an M.A. in English from a regionally accredited institution with at least 21 credits in English and American literature on the graduate transcript and a graduate GPA of 3.50 or better.

   1. Students wishing to enter the Creative Writing Track may possess either an M.A. in English as stated above or an M.F.A. in Creative Writing from an accredited institution.

3. Applicants must submit the following to the English department:

   1. Applicants must send one official set of transcripts from all colleges or universities attended to the Graduate College and one unofficial set directly to the English Department.

   2. Official scores on the Verbal portion of the General Test and the Literature in English Subject Test of the Graduate Record Examination.

   3. Three letters of recommendation specifically for Ph.D. study from professors of English.

   4. Two or three writing samples totaling at least 30 pages of literary criticism, history or analysis and offering substantial evidence of the student's ability to do work at the doctoral level.

      1. Students wishing to enter the Creative Writing
Track must submit a 50-page (or longer) writing sample of the candidate’s creative work, to be read and judged by the Creative Writing faculty.

5. A letter of application to the Graduate Committee stating the applicant’s reasons for wanting to enter the program and the intended areas of specialization.

Students are accepted into a degree program as described in the Graduate Catalog. The faculty and corresponding sub-disciplines and sub-plans within the described programs are subject to change at any time.

Plan Requirements

See Subplan Requirements below.

Subplan 1 Requirements: English Literature Track

Total Credits Required: 48

Course Requirements

Required Course – Credits: 3

ENG 703 - Survey of Literary Criticism and Theory

Elective Courses – Credits: 33

Complete 33 credits in graduate-level advisor-approved English courses.

Dissertation – Credits: 12 credits

ENG 799 - Dissertation

Degree Requirements

1. Of the required 36 course credits, all credits must be taken at the 700-level. Six of these may be earned with a concentration in Composition Studies.

2. Courses completed at a grade below a B will not count towards the degree, and any student receiving more than one grade below a B will be separated from the graduate program.

3. Only 6 credits of Independent Study can be applied to the program.

4. Only 3 credits of ENG 798 (Doctoral Research) can be applied to a program.

5. Demonstration of reading knowledge of two foreign languages or proficiency in one. Proficiency in a language is demonstrated by completion of two upper-division or graduate courses in the literature of that language with a B or better; or by passing a translation test administered and evaluated by English Department faculty fluent in that language.

6. In consultation with his/her advisor, a student will organize a dissertation committee of at least three departmental members. In addition, a fourth member from outside the department, known as the Graduate College Representative, must be appointed. An additional committee member may be added at the student and department's discretion. Please see Graduate College policy for committee appointment guidelines.

7. Qualifying Examinations: Superior performance is required on qualifying examinations in the student’s three areas of specialization. These examinations consist of three four-hour written exams: one in the historical period of specialization, one in the genre of specialization, and a third in an additional chronological period, a major author approved by the graduate committee, or a special topic approved by the graduate committee, and a two-hour oral examination. For more information visit the English department's website here: English Literature PhD Requirements.

8. After passing the Qualifying Examination, and normally in the third or fourth year of the program, the student will begin a doctoral dissertation under the direction of an Advisor and a Thesis Committee approved by the Graduate Director of the Department. The Prospectus for this Dissertation must be approved, and the Dissertation written, under the close supervision of the Advisor and the Thesis Committee. The doctoral dissertation involving original thought and superior scholarship on a topic or author in English or American literature, or world literature in English.

Graduation Requirements
Plan Degree Requirements

1. No more than a total of 6 credit hours may be selected from 600-level courses.
2. A comprehensive examination is required of each M.A. student, who will choose either a three-hour written exam or a sixty- to ninety-minute oral exam and prepare a reading list for the examination with the supervision and approval of the advisor and the examination committee. The reading list will comprise at least twenty authors, and the selections should recognize diversity of genre, gender, culture, and period. At least seventeen of those authors should be chosen from the master reading list on the English Department website. Three other authors not on the master list may be added. If taken during the semester of graduation, the exam must be scheduled no later than three weeks before the end of classes. The Graduate College designates deadline dates for each semester. See graduatecollege.unlv.edu.
3. A master's thesis, which carries six credits, is optional (although recommended) for the literary study emphasis. It is normally written during two consecutive semesters and must conform to the guidelines set forth by the Graduate College in this catalog and in its Thesis and Dissertation Manual.
   a. In consultation with his/her advisor, a student will organize a thesis committee of at least three departmental members. In addition, a fourth member from outside the department, known as the Graduate College Representative, must be appointed. An additional committee member may be added at the student and department's discretion. Please see Graduate College policy for committee appointment guidelines.
   b. The M.A. thesis should be an original contribution to knowledge about a suitable literary or linguistic subject and comprise about seventy-five pages. Thesis projects must be designed, developed, and written in close consultation with an appropriate thesis advisor and with the student's thesis committee.

Plan Graduation Requirements

1. The student must submit all required forms to the Graduate College and then apply for graduation up to two semesters prior to completing his/her degree requirements.
2. The student must successfully pass the comprehensive exam and submit the Final Exam Results by the posted deadline.
3. If a thesis is completed, the student must submit and successfully defend his/her thesis by the posted deadline. The defense must be advertised and is open to the public.
4. If a thesis is completed, the student must submit his/her approved, properly formatted hard-copy document to the Graduate College, and submit the approved electronic version to ProQuest by the posted deadline.
Master of Fine Arts - Creative Writing

Plan Description

The MFA international program at UNLV enables writers to begin recognizing themselves and their art in relation to a larger understanding of writing. The program’s commitment to world literature provides a unique MFA experience that differs from many traditional creative writing programs. Admitted students follow a three-year program that includes literature and writing courses, time abroad, completion of a poetry or fiction manuscript, a literary translation, and a critical essay. In addition, the MFA program at UNLV is the nation’s only creative writing program that gives credit to students who wish to spend their time abroad in the Peace Corps. The program’s international emphasis is derived from the belief that the best writing is done by individuals who know that literature is something created from more than mere self-expression, and that great books are written by the few who know their gift is connected to the world they live in and strive to create dialogue between private imagination and public concern. Graduates of UNLV’s MFA program have gone on to secure tenure track teaching jobs, gain admission to Ph.D. programs in creative writing, publish books, and enter the workforce as editors, writers, and arts administrators. UNLV also routinely supports recent graduates with part-time teaching opportunities in the department.

For more information about your program, including your graduate program handbook and learning outcomes please visit the Degree Directory.

Plan Admission Requirements

Applications available on the UNLV Graduate College website.

1. All domestic and international applicants must review and follow the Graduate College Admission & Registration Requirements.

2. Applicants for the M.F.A. in Creative Writing must submit the following to the English department:
   1. A strong manuscript of either poetry or fiction for consideration, of approximately 10-15 pages for poetry and 20-30 pages for fiction. The primary consideration for admission is the quality of the manuscript as judged by the Creative Writing faculty.
   2. A letter of application to the Graduate Committee that includes a statement of purpose and reasons the applicant wants to study creative writing at the University of Nevada, Las Vegas.
   3. Applicants must send one official set of transcripts from all colleges or universities attended to the Graduate College and one unofficial set directly to the English Department.
   4. Two letters of recommendation to be sent directly to the department. There is a wide range of acceptability with regard to an applicant's previous record of studies and major field of specialization as an undergraduate.
   5. Scores for the Verbal portion of the General test of the Graduate Record Examination.

Students are accepted into a degree program as described in the Graduate Catalog. The faculty and corresponding sub-disciplines and sub-plans within the described programs are subject to change at any time.

Plan Requirements

See Subplan Requirements below.

Subplan 1 Requirements: International Focus Track

Total Credits Required: 54

Course Requirements
Creative Writing Course – Credits: 12

Complete 9 credits in the chosen genre of concentration (either poetry or fiction) and 3 credits in another genre.

ENG 705 - Creative Writing

Required Courses – Credits: 6

Independent Study – Credits: 6

ENG 794 - Independent Study - International Focus

Thesis – Credits: 12

ENG 790 - M.F.A. Thesis

Degree Requirements

1. Independent Study: International Focus
   1. 3 credits for the completion of a significant translation of superior quality from a language other than English and 3 credits for the writing of a substantial scholarly essay of at least 5,000 words on some aspect of a major world writer or field of literary study.
   2. The strong international emphasis of the M.F.A. in Creative Writing requires all students to spend at least one semester or summer abroad in a non-English speaking country and to earn at least six credits toward the M.F.A. by enrolling in a university, school, or institute abroad and/or by Independent Study guided and monitored by a member of the Creative Writing faculty. For applicants with strong experience and demonstrable study and residency in a non-English speaking country and with significant foreign language skills, the study abroad requirement may be waived at the discretion of the Creative Writing faculty and of the Graduate College. The six required credits must then be earned in some other way.

2. In consultation with his/her advisor, a student will organize a thesis committee of at least three departmental members. In addition, a fourth member from outside the department, known as the Graduate College Representative, must be appointed. An additional committee member may be added at the student and department's discretion. Please see Graduate College policy for committee appointment guidelines.

3. All candidates for the M.F.A. degree are required to write a creative thesis in either poetry or fiction and to complete at least 12 credits toward the creative thesis requirement by intensive work in conference with members of the faculty. The creative thesis for the M.F.A. will be a book-length manuscript and must conform to the guidelines set forth by the Graduate College in this catalog and in its Thesis and Dissertation Manual. The M.F.A. creative thesis will only be passed and the M.F.A. degree granted when the creative thesis is judged to be a substantial creative work of high seriousness and literary merit in the opinion of the Creative Writing faculty and the student's creative thesis committee.

Graduation Requirements

1. The student must submit all required forms to the Graduate College and then apply for graduation up to two semesters prior to completing his/her degree requirements.

2. The student must submit and successfully defend his/her thesis by the posted deadline.
The defense must be advertised and is open to the public.

3. Student must submit his/her approved, properly formatted document to the Graduate College, and submit the approved electronic version to ProQuest by the posted deadline.

History

The graduate programs in History are designed to achieve a balance between scholarship and teaching. Advanced study in the areas of North America, Europe, Latin America, Asia, and in Public History has prepared many of our graduates for teaching positions in area schools and community colleges. Our course offerings, which train students in research, writing, editing, and critical analysis, have qualified many of our graduates for admission to doctoral programs, law schools, and jobs in historic preservation, the National Park Service, historical societies, museums, and international business firms.

Doctor of Philosophy - History

Plan Description

The degree of Doctor of Philosophy is the ultimate expression of the History Department's mission to generate and disseminate new knowledge of the past through research, reflection and publication. The doctoral program in history at UNLV has two tracks: United States History and European History. The degree aims at providing graduates with the capacity for original research and thought as demonstrated by the completion of a doctoral dissertation of substantial scope combining imagination and excellence.

For more information about your program, including your graduate program handbook and learning outcomes, please visit the Degree Directory.

Learning outcomes for specific subplan tracks can be found below:

- Doctor of Philosophy - History; Concentration in European Culture and Society
- Doctor of Philosophy - History; Concentration in North American Culture and Society
- Doctor of Philosophy - History; Concentration in North American West

Plan Admission Requirements

Applications available on the UNLV Graduate College website.

1. All domestic and international applicants must review and follow the Graduate College Admission and Registration Requirements.
2. Applicants must have completed significant course work at the upper division or graduate level in History.
3. Competitive scores on verbal, quantitative and analytical measures of the Graduate Record Examination.
4. Recommendations from three former instructors addressing the applicant's preparedness for doctoral level work in United States History or European History.
5. A statement of purpose in which the applicant describes specific interests in and approaches to either United States History or European History. The statement should also include a description of the applicant's background and training for advanced work in this field as well as academic and professional goals.
6. A writing sample in the form of a master's thesis or original research paper of substantial length and quality. If possible, the writing sample should engage either United States History or European History.

Post-Bachelor's Tracks

1. B.A. or equivalent from an accredited institution with a minimum GPA of 3.75.
2. Students must have written an Honors Thesis in History or a closely related field, which must be uploaded as part of the application.

Post-Master's Tracks

1. M.A. or equivalent from an accredited institution with a minimum GPA of 3.50.
2. Students who have not completed HIST 710 and HIST 740 as part of their master's degree will be required to complete them as a condition of their admission. Note: These courses will not count toward the 35 credits required for the Doctor of Philosophy – History.

Students are accepted into a degree program as described in the Graduate Catalog. The faculty and corresponding sub-disciplines and sub-plans within the described programs are subject to change at any time.

HIST 791 - Dissertation

Degree Requirements

1. Students are expected to take courses with as many members of the faculty who specialize in the history of the North American West as possible. Students are encouraged to take more than the minimum number of courses.

2. A minimum of 45 credit hours of coursework must be at the 700-level (excluding Dissertation).

3. Foreign Language Requirement. This requirement can be met in any of the following three ways, though the chosen option must be approved by the chair of the student's examination committee:
   1. Demonstrated reading knowledge of two foreign languages.
   2. Demonstrated reading knowledge of one foreign language and advanced reading knowledge of the same language, assessed through the writing of a substantial historiographical essay in English based on scholarly literature in that foreign language.
   3. With the approval of the student's committee and the Graduate Coordinator, a student may demonstrate reading knowledge of one foreign language and the successful completion of SOC 604 - Statistical Methods in the Social Sciences.

4. The completion of the second seminar paper will constitute the master's culminating experience; it will be evaluated by a committee consisting of the instructor of record, the student's primary advisor and the graduate coordinator.

5. Please note that the MA degree will not be conferred automatically. Students must take the initiative to seek committee approval and apply for conferral through the Graduate College.

6. Doctoral students may also apply to transfer into the MA program at any point, but this will require a new application.

7. Students may take up to six credits of Comprehensive Exam Preparation, but these credits will not count towards the total credits required for the degree.

8. Written and Oral Qualifying Examinations. Students write a total of six out of twelve essay questions. Students prepare extensive reading lists of books and articles for each field of study in conjunction with the members of their advisory committee. The lists are based on scholarly works read in coursework, but substantial additional reading is required. Coursework alone does not constitute preparation for comprehensive exams. For purposes of examination, and through close consultation with the student's committee chair and members of the committee, coursework and supplemental reading will be divided into four examination areas, each of which is comprised of four questions from which the students write on two.
   1. Major Field (General United States History): the written examination focuses on the first or second half of U.S. History (1600 to 1877, or 1850 to Present), but students are required to answer questions on the full sweep of U.S. History in the oral examination. A student writes on two of four questions.
   2. Major Field (Topical): Requires students to master the literature in North American West. A student writes on two of four questions.
   3. Theory and Methods: A student chooses Applied Theory, Comparative History, or Public History. A student writes on one of two questions.
   4. Minor Field: A student chooses one of the following fields: Asian History, European History, Latin American History, Public History, or World History. A student may only be examined in Public History in one field. A student writes on one of two questions.

9. Students must pass the written portion of the qualifying exam before they are allowed to take the oral qualifying exam.

10. Students may take up to three credits of Dissertation Prospectus course, but these credits will not count towards the total credits required for the degree.

11. The prospectus colloquium must be held within three months of the successful completion of the comprehensive examinations. Students must formally present a prospectus for their proposed dissertation research to their advisory committee before taking dissertation credits. The prospectus must be accepted for the student to have ABD status in the History Department.

12. A dissertation of substantial length and quality containing original research and interpretation on a topic in the field of Northern American West.

Graduation Requirements

1. The student must submit all required forms to the Graduate College and then apply for graduation up to two semesters prior to completing his/her degree requirements for both the Master’s (if applicable) and Doctoral portions of the program.

2. The student must submit and successfully defend his/her dissertation by the posted deadline. The defense must be advertised and is open to the public.

3. The student must submit his/her approved, properly formatted hard-copy dissertation to the Graduate College, and submit the approved electronic version to ProQuest by the posted deadline.

HIST 791 - Dissertation

Degree Requirements

1. Students are expected to take courses with as many members of the faculty who specialize in the history of European Culture and Society as possible. Students are encouraged to take more than the minimum number of courses.

2. A minimum of 45 credit hours of coursework must be at the 700-level (excluding Dissertation).

3. Foreign Language Requirement. This requirement can be met in any of the following three ways, though the chosen option must be approved by the chair of the student's examination committee:
   1. Demonstrated reading knowledge of two foreign languages.
   2. Demonstrated reading knowledge of one foreign language and advanced reading knowledge of the same language, assessed through the writing of a substantial historiographical essay in English based on scholarly literature in that foreign language.
   3. With the approval of the student's committee and the Graduate Coordinator, a student may demonstrate reading knowledge of one foreign language and the successful completion of SOC 604 - Statistical Methods in the Social Sciences.

4. The completion of the second seminar paper will constitute the master's culminating experience; it will be evaluated by a committee consisting of the instructor of record, the student's primary advisor and the graduate coordinator.

5. Please note that the MA degree will not be conferred automatically. Students must take the initiative to seek committee approval and apply for conferral through the Graduate College.

6. Doctoral students may also apply to transfer into the MA program at any point, but this will require a new application.

7. Students may take up to six credits of Comprehensive Exam Preparation, but these credits will not count towards the total credits required for the degree.

8. Written and Oral Qualifying Examinations. Students write a total of eight out of sixteen essay questions. Students prepare extensive reading lists of books and articles for each field of study in conjunction with the members of their advisory committee. The lists are based on scholarly works read in coursework, but substantial additional reading is required. Coursework alone does not constitute preparation for comprehensive exams. For purposes of examination, and through close consultation with the student's committee chair and members of the committee, coursework and supplemental reading will be divided into four examination areas, each of which is comprised of four questions from which the students write on two.

   1. Major Field (General European History): Students, in consultation with their advisors, will define the parameters of the major field. Specific chronological parameters will vary but students are required to answer questions on the full sweep of European history in the oral examination. A student writes on two of four questions.

   2. Major Field (Topical): Requires students to master the literature in European Culture and Society. A student writes on two of four questions.

3. Theory and Methods: A student chooses one of the following fields: Applied Theory, Public History, or Comparative History. A student writes on one of two questions.

4. Minor Field: A student chooses one of the following fields: United States History, World History, or Public History. A student may only be examined in Public History in one field. A student writes on one of two questions.

9. Students must pass the written portion of the qualifying exam before they are allowed to take the oral qualifying exam.

10. Students may take up to three credits of Dissertation Prospectus course, but these credits will not count towards the total credits required for the degree.

11. The prospectus colloquium must be held within three months of the successful completion of the comprehensive examinations. Students must formally present a prospectus for their proposed dissertation research to their advisory committee before taking dissertation credits. The prospectus must be accepted for the student to have ABD status in the History Department.

12. A dissertation of substantial length and quality containing original research and interpretation on a topic in the field of European Culture and Society.

Graduation Requirements

1. The student must submit all required forms to the Graduate College and then apply for graduation up to two semesters prior to completing his/her degree requirements for both the Master's (if applicable) and Doctoral portions of the program.

2. The student must submit and successfully defend his/her dissertation by the posted deadline. The defense must be advertised and is open to the public.

3. The student must submit his/her approved, properly formatted hard-copy dissertation to the Graduate College, and submit the approved electronic version to ProQuest by the posted deadline.

Elective Courses – Credits: 3

Complete 3 credits of History elective coursework, or other advisor-approved courses.

Dissertation – Credits: 12

HIST 791 - Dissertation

Degree Requirements

1. Students are expected to take courses with as many members of the faculty who specialize in the history of European Culture and Society as possible. Students are encouraged to take more than the minimum number of courses.

2. A minimum of 26 credit hours of coursework must be at the 700-level (excluding Dissertation).

3. Foreign Language Requirement. This requirement can be met in any of the following three ways, though the chosen option must be approved by the chair of the student's examination committee:
   1. Demonstrated reading knowledge of two foreign languages.
   2. Demonstrated reading knowledge of one foreign language and advanced reading knowledge of the same language, assessed through the writing of a substantial historiographical essay in English based on scholarly literature in that foreign language.
   3. With the approval of the student's committee and the Graduate Coordinator, a student may demonstrate reading knowledge of one foreign language and the successful completion of SOC 604 - Statistical Methods in the Social Sciences.

4. Students may take up to six credits of Comprehensive Exam Preparation, but these credits will not count towards the total credits required for the degree.

5. Written and Oral Qualifying Examinations. Students write a total of six out of twelve essay questions. Students prepare extensive reading lists of books and articles for each field of study in conjunction with the members of their advisory committee. The lists are based on scholarly works read in coursework, but substantial additional reading is required. Coursework alone does not constitute preparation for comprehensive exams. For purposes of examination, and through close consultation with the student's committee chair and members of the committee, coursework and supplemental reading will be divided into four examination areas, each of which is comprised of four questions from which the students write on two.
   1. Major Field (General European History): Students, in consultation with their advisors, will define the parameters of the major field. Specific chronological parameters will vary but students are required to answer questions on the full sweep of European history in the oral examination. A student writes on two of four questions.
   2. Major Field (Topical): Requires students to master the literature in European Culture and Society. A student writes on two of four questions.
   3. Theory and Methods: A student chooses one of the following fields: Applied Theory, Public History, or Comparative History. A student writes on one of two questions.
   4. Minor Field: A student chooses one of the following fields: Asian History, Latin American History, Public History, United States History, or World History. A student may only be examined in Public History in one field. A student writes on one of two questions.
6. Students must pass the written portion of the qualifying exam before they are allowed to take the oral qualifying exam.

7. Students may take up to three credits of Dissertation Prospectus course, but these credits will not count towards the total credits required for the degree.

8. The prospectus colloquium must be held within three months of the successful completion of the comprehensive examinations. Students must formally present a prospectus for their proposed dissertation research to their advisory committee before taking dissertation credits. The prospectus must be accepted for the student to have ABD status in the History Department.

9. A dissertation of substantial length and quality containing original research and interpretation on a topic in the field of European Culture and Society.

Graduation Requirements

1. The student must submit all required forms to the Graduate College and then apply for graduation up to two semesters prior to completing his/her degree requirements.

2. The student must submit and successfully defend his/her dissertation by the posted deadline. The defense must be advertised and is open to the public.

3. The student must submit his/her approved, properly formatted hard-copy dissertation to the Graduate College, and submit the approved electronic version to ProQuest by the posted deadline.

Plan Graduation Requirements

Refer to your subplan for Graduation Requirements.

Master of Arts - History

Plan Description

The Department of History offers a Master of Arts degree with specializations in the following areas: United States, Europe, Asia, Latin America, and Public History (minor). The program is designed to broaden and deepen the student's understanding of the heritage of human experience. It also sharpens scholarly skills and provides for some specialization in specific fields or periods of history.

For more information about your program, including your graduate program handbook and learning outcomes, please visit the Degree Directory.

Learning outcomes for specific subplan tracks can be found below:

- Master of Arts - History; Non-Thesis
- Master of Arts - History; Thesis

Plan Admission Requirements

Applications available on the UNLV Graduate College website.

Students must meet the following requirements for admission to graduate standing.

1. All domestic and international applicants must review and follow the Graduate College Admission and Registration Requirements.

2. An overall undergraduate grade point average of at least 3.00.

3. A grade point average of at least 3.30 in history courses.

4. Recommendations from two former instructors addressing the applicant's preparedness for graduate work in history.

5. A minimum of 18 credits in history.

6. Submission of a writing sample, preferably a research paper, representative of undergraduate work.

7. Submission of a statement of purpose in which the applicant describes historical areas and approaches of particular interest, background and training for advanced work in history, and academic and professional goals.

Students are accepted into a degree program as described in the Graduate Catalog. The faculty and corresponding sub-disciplines and sub-plans within the described programs are subject to change at any time.

Degree Requirements

1. Students must complete a minimum of 35 credit hours of approved course work with a minimum GPA of 3.00.
2. A minimum of 16 credit hours of course work must be at the 700-level (excluding Thesis).
3. In addition to the major area of study, the student must complete twelve credits in a minor area.
4. The student's advisor and graduate committee must approve all course work plans. A field outside of history may be presented as part of a student's program. The student is required to have a reading knowledge of a foreign language if that language is necessary to do research in the selected field.
5. In consultation with his/her advisor, a student will organize an advisory committee of at least three departmental members. In addition, a fourth member from outside the department, known as the Graduate College Representative, must be appointed. An additional committee member may be added at the student and department's discretion. Please see Graduate College policy for committee appointment guidelines.
6. Students must successfully complete a written examination in their major area of study. This may be taken at the completion of twenty-two credits of course work, and must be taken no later than the completion of twenty-nine credits. Students prepare reading lists of books for each of their two fields within the major area in conjunction with the members of their advisory committee. The lists are based on scholarly works read in coursework, but substantial additional reading is required. Coursework alone does not constitute preparation for comprehensive exams.
7. No grade below a B- will be accepted for graduate credit, but will be averaged into the student's grade point average. A minimum GPA of 3.00 must be achieved in all graduate work attempted toward the degree.

Graduation Requirements

1. The student must submit all required forms to the Graduate College and then apply for graduation up to two semesters prior to completing his/her degree requirements.
2. If a thesis is completed, the student must submit and successfully defend his/her thesis by the posted deadline. The defense must be advertised and is open to the public.
3. If a thesis is completed, the student must submit his/her approved, properly formatted hard-copy document to the Graduate College, and submit the approved electronic version to ProQuest by the posted deadline.

Thesis – Credits: 6 (Optional)

HIST 790 - Thesis

Degree Requirements

1. Students must complete a minimum of 35 credit hours of approved course work with a minimum GPA of 3.00.
2. A minimum of 16 credit hours of course work must be at the 700-level (excluding Thesis).
3. In addition to the major area of study, the student must complete twelve credits in a minor area.
4. The student's advisor and graduate committee must approve all course work plans. A field outside of history may be presented as part of a student's program. The student is required to have a reading knowledge of a foreign language if that language is necessary to do research in the selected field.
5. In consultation with his/her advisor, a student will organize an advisory committee of at least three departmental members. In addition, a fourth member from outside the department, known as the Graduate College Representative, must be appointed. An additional committee member may be added at the student and department's discretion. Please see Graduate College policy for committee appointment guidelines.
6. Students must successfully complete a written examination in their major area of study. This may be taken at the completion of twenty-two credits of course work, and must be taken no later than the completion of twenty-nine credits. Students prepare reading lists of books for each of their two fields within the major area in conjunction with the members of their advisory committee. The lists are based on scholarly works read in coursework, but substantial additional reading is required. Coursework alone does not constitute preparation for comprehensive exams.
7. No grade below a B- will be accepted for graduate credit, but will be averaged into the student's grade point average. A minimum GPA of 3.00 must be achieved in all graduate work attempted toward the degree.

Graduation Requirements

1. The student must submit all required forms to the Graduate College and then apply for graduation up to two semesters prior to completing his/her degree requirements.
2. If a thesis is completed, the student must submit and successfully defend his/her thesis by the posted deadline. The defense must be advertised and is open to the public.
3. If a thesis is completed, the student must submit his/her approved, properly formatted hard-copy document to the Graduate College, and submit the approved electronic version to ProQuest by the posted deadline.

Interdisciplinary Studies

The College of Liberal Arts offers a number of interdisciplinary programs that enable students to take courses in several departments and colleges on campus. Students combine their course work in exciting and innovative ways beyond the existing Bachelor of Arts and Bachelor of Science degrees in order to meet their career goals and to reflect their personal interests. There are Interdisciplinary B.A. degree programs in the following fields: Afro-American Studies, Asian Studies, Latin American Studies, Multidisciplinary Studies, Social Science Studies and Women's Studies.

Women's Studies:

Women's Studies provides students with interdisciplinary approaches and methodologies for studying gender relations, i.e. how gender, in intersection with other substantive categories of analysis and identity, such as race, class, sexuality, ethnicity, physical ability, nationality, shapes the material conditions of peoples' lives all over the world. Our classrooms are interactive learning environments that value diversity and multiple perspectives. Our students learn new ways of viewing the world, develop tools for critical thinking, and are empowered to make a difference in the world. Our curriculum provides students with the skills to undertake cutting-edge research on contemporary issues through our core sequence of upper-division courses on theory, research methodologies, and praxis. Students interested in learning more about gender issues in conjunction with other interests find that it is easy to combine our curriculum with other majors, minors and fields of study. In addition, internship and leadership opportunities, combined with individualized advising from core faculty, allows students to pursue career goals while undertaking their course of study. Women's Studies equips students to enter a range of careers in today's diverse and multicultural workplaces. Students can pursue further study to become researchers and scholars either within the growing field of Women's/Gender Studies or in a wide range of academic fields in the humanities and social sciences where knowledge of contemporary gender analysis provides an advantage.

The Certificate in Women's Studies has been placed in moratorium as the department effects its transition into Interdisciplinary Degree Programs. No students will be accepted into the Certificate Program until further notice.

Philosophy

Most disciplines have their origins in philosophy, and philosophy still underlies them all. Nevertheless, certain questions are enduringly philosophical — peculiarly fundamental questions concerning the ultimate nature of values, knowledge, and reality. Philosophy thus investigates general topics of human interest: morality and the good life, law and the political life, God and the sacred, good and bad reasoning, evidence and discovery, art and the beautiful. Studying philosophy requires learning how to listen and how to discuss; it involves sifting through ideas and articulating thoughts in ways that others can follow. It is little wonder, therefore, that not only is a degree in philosophy valuable in itself, but it is also widely recognized as an excellent preparation for careers in academics, law, medicine, and even business.

Political Science

The Department of Political Science offers a general Master of Arts degree. Students tailor their program with the assistance of the department's graduate coordinator. Advisory committees will approve a program that will provide an appropriate degree of specialization in one of the fields of political science with supporting studies in others.

Students can pursue graduate education in the areas of American politics/public law/public policy, comparative politics, international relations, and political theory. Students can normally expect to complete the program in from one-and-a-half to two years. The department offers a number of graduate assistantships as well as internship opportunities at the local, state, and federal levels, where students can obtain on-the-job experience.

The graduate program in political science is designed to prepare graduate students for doctoral studies, teaching positions at secondary schools and community colleges, or employment by government agencies, research centers, or private industry. Our graduates have gone on to executive positions in national, state, and local governments and to doctoral programs at top schools throughout the country.

Doctor of Philosophy in Political Science

The Ph.D. program offers concentrations in American politics/public law/public policy, comparative politics, international relations, and political theory.

Globalization is a dominant characteristic of politics in the twenty-first century. The program focuses on the causes, consequences, and limitations of the political, economic, and cultural aspects of globalization.
The Ph.D. program is intended to prepare its graduates for careers in academic institutions, government (at all levels), and business and industry. Increasingly, a cross-national, cross-cultural understanding of political processes is essential for education, public policy, and commerce.

Doctor of Philosophy - Political Science

Plan Description

The Ph.D. program offers concentrations in American politics/public law/public policy, comparative politics, international relations, and political theory. Globalization is a dominant characteristic of politics in the twenty-first century. The program focuses on the causes, consequences, and limitations of the political, economic, and cultural aspects of globalization.

The Ph.D. program is intended to prepare its graduates for careers in academic institutions, government (at all levels), and business and industry. Increasingly, a cross-national, cross-cultural understanding of political processes is essential for education, public policy, and commerce.

For more information about your program, including your graduate program handbook and learning outcomes, please visit the Degree Directory.

Plan Admission Requirements

Applications available on the UNLV Graduate College website.

1. The following department application materials must be uploaded into the online application:
   1. Graduate Record Examination (GRE) General Test scores
   2. Three letters of recommendation by recommendation providers
   3. A personal statement explaining why you want to enter the doctoral program
   4. A writing sample
2. Applicants must submit satisfactory Graduate Record Examination (GRE) General Test scores. The recommended score is a total of 160 on the verbal and 148 on the quantitative sections. We also pay attention to the analytical score. The applicant’s undergraduate record is examined in conjunction with the GRE scores. The former is weighed more heavily than the latter: an outstanding undergraduate record may well allow the admission of an applicant with GRE scores somewhat below the recommended level.
3. Applicants must possess a B.A. or equivalent from a regionally accredited institution with a minimum GPA of 3.30, or M.A. or equivalent from an accredited institution with a minimum GPA of 3.50. Under special circumstances the department may consider applicants with lower GPAs.
4. Applicants must have completed 12 credits of course work at the upper-division or graduate level in comparative politics and international relations combined. At the discretion of the department, students who lack such course work may be admitted on the condition that they remedy that deficiency.
5. All domestic and international applicants must review and follow the Graduate College Admission and Registration Requirements.

Students are accepted into a degree program as described in the Graduate Catalog. The faculty and corresponding sub-disciplines and sub-plans within the described programs are subject to change at any time.

Master of Arts - Political Science

Plan Description

The Department of Political Science offers a general Master of Arts degree. Students tailor their programs with the assistance of the department's graduate coordinator. Programs are flexible, and students may take advantage of individualized instruction. Advisory committees will approve programs that provide an appropriate degree of specialization in one of the fields of political science with supporting studies in others.

Students can pursue graduate education in the areas of American politics/public policy/public law, comparative politics, international relations, and political theory. Students can normally expect to complete the program in from one-and-a-half to two years. The department offers a number of graduate assistantships as well as internship opportunities at the local, state, and federal levels, where students can obtain on-the-job experience. The graduate program in political science is designed to prepare graduate students for doctoral studies, teaching positions at secondary schools and community colleges, or employment by government agencies, research centers, or private industry. Our graduates have gone on to executive positions in national, state, and local governments and to doctoral programs at top schools throughout the country.

For more information about your program, including your graduate program handbook and learning outcomes, please visit the Degree Directory.

Plan Admission Requirements

Applications available on the UNLV Graduate College website.

1. The following department application materials must be uploaded into the online application:
   1. Graduate Record Examination (GRE) General Test scores
   2. Two letters of recommendation by recommendation providers
3. A personal statement explaining why you want to enter the Master's program

2. Applicants must possess a baccalaureate from a regionally accredited institution with a minimum GPA of 3.00.

3. Applicants must submit satisfactory GRE General Test scores. Minimum scores are 153 on the verbal and 144 on the quantitative sections of the exam; we also consider the analytical writing score. In unusual circumstances, students who do not meet the above criteria may still be admitted.

4. All domestic and international applicants must review and follow the Graduate College Admission and Registration Requirements.

Students are accepted into a degree program as described in the Graduate Catalog. The faculty and corresponding sub-disciplines and sub-plans within the described programs are subject to change at any time.

Students must obtain the permission of the Political Science graduate coordinator prior to enrolling in courses outside of Political Science otherwise the courses will not count toward the M.A. in Political Science. Courses from outside the Department that include an undergraduate component cannot be used for the degree. Independent Study (PSC 791) cannot be used to fulfill a core or elected requirement.

5. The candidate must maintain a minimum 3.0 GPA at all times in order to remain in good standing. Only those courses in which a student receives a grade of B or better may be used for graduate credit.

6. In addition to the required coursework, in consultation with his or her advisor, a student will prepare and present a professional paper. The professional paper will be supervised by a committee of at least three departmental members. In addition, a fourth member from outside the department, known as the Graduate College Representative, must be appointed. An additional committee member may be added at the student and department's discretion.

Please see Graduate College policy for committee appointment guidelines.

Plan Graduation Requirements

1. The student must submit all required forms to the Graduate College and then apply for graduation up to two semesters prior to completing his or her degree requirements.

2. The student must submit and successfully defend his or her professional paper by the posted deadline. The defense must be advertised and is open to the public.

Psychology

Welcome to the Department of Psychology. Psychology is the science of behavior. The department is a vibrant entity with a rich tradition of excellence in research and teaching as well as service to the university, the community, and the field of psychology. Our faculty members conduct cutting-edge research in clinical, cognitive, and developmental psychology as well as neuroscience and quantitative methods. Our research is enhanced by great diversity in our undergraduate student population and in our community in Las Vegas. The department also has connections with many organizations that include private schools, Clark County agencies, and mental health, medical, and neuroscience centers.

Doctor of Philosophy - Psychology

Plan Description

The Graduate Faculty of the Department of Psychology is comprised of a group of dedicated individuals who have received their training at outstanding graduate programs. We continue to recruit accomplished scholars who will enhance the quality and diversity of the graduate experience available to our students. The department is committed to providing our graduate students with a high quality program balanced across classroom, laboratories, and other research settings; and for clinical students, various practicum placements. The department currently offers M.A. and Ph.D. degrees through the Clinical and Experimental Psychology Tracks.

The UNLV Clinical Psychology Tracks prepare students to address human concerns through both scholarly research and the application of psychological knowledge and skills. We recognize psychology as an empirical science and expect students to have a broad understanding of existing psychological knowledge. We guide students to base their scholarly and professional activity on the scientific foundation of psychology. Through an integration of didactic study, supervised clinical activity, and mentored scholarly research, we prepare students as generalist scientist-practitioners to conduct scientific research and clinical interventions with children and adults.

The UNLV Experimental Psychology Doctoral Program trains students to become psychological scientists capable of carrying out independent research that lives up to international standards of scientific excellence. Upon completing the degree, students will be qualified to seek careers conducting research in academia and in other institutional and applied settings. Areas of research in which faculty supervise students are: Cognitive Psychology, Neuroscience, Developmental Psychology, and Quantitative/Experimental Psychology. The program operates on a mentor model in which students work under the supervision of an identified faculty mentor. We welcome students from diverse backgrounds and encourage research in topics related to multiculturalism and diversity.

For more information about your program, including your graduate program handbook and learning outcomes, please visit the Degree Directory.

Learning outcomes for specific subplan tracks can be found below:

- Doctor of Philosophy - Psychology, Clinical Psychology
- Doctor of Philosophy - Psychology, Experimental Psychology

Plan Admission Requirements

Applications available on the UNLV Graduate College website.

The program is accredited by the American Psychological Association.

All domestic and international applicants must review and follow the Graduate College Admission and Registration Requirements.

Clinical Psychology Tracks

The Clinical Psychology Tracks currently admit only students seeking a doctoral degree. The program admits students for matriculation only in the fall semester. The application deadline is December 1 prior to the fall for which matriculation is being requested. Applicants will be notified of their status prior to April 15. We anticipate entering classes of 5-8 students each year. Typical admitted students have GPAs of 3.7 and GRE scores of 600 (see http://psychology.unlv.edu/clinical.htm#Admission for more information).

1. A bachelor's degree from an accredited institution with a minimum GPA of at least 3.20 (A = 4.00) or a master's degree or equivalent from an accredited institution with a minimum GPA of 3.50. Applicants with a bachelor's degree must have completed at least 18 hours in undergraduate psychology courses including Statistics and Research Methods or their equivalents.
2. Satisfactory scores on the Verbal and Quantitative sections of the Graduate Record Examination (GRE).
3. Three letters of recommendation.
4. A statement of purpose written by the applicant.
5. Admission to the program will be based on a mentoring model. Students under serious consideration for admission to the Experimental Program are required to have a personal interview with the sponsoring faculty member and at least two other program faculty members. If a personal interview is not feasible, a telephone interview may be substituted. In unusual circumstances, students who do not meet these admission requirements may be admitted.

Experimental Psychology Tracks

The Experimental Psychology tracks currently admit only students seeking a doctoral degree. The program admits students for matriculation only in the fall semester. The application deadline is December 1st before the fall for which matriculation is being requested. Review of completed applications will continue until all positions are filled. Applicants are encouraged to submit their materials as early as possible.

interview is not financially or pragmatically feasible, a telephone interview may be substituted.

Note: Strong applicants who fail to meet one of the Experimental Program admission requirements may still be considered for admission.

Students are accepted into a degree program as described in the Graduate Catalog. The faculty and corresponding sub-disciplines and sub-plans within the described programs are subject to change at any time.

Plan Requirements

See Subplan Requirements below.

Subplan 1 Requirements: Post-Bachelor's - Clinical Psychology Track

Total Credits Required: 96

Course Requirements

Clinical Foundation Courses – Credits: 27

PSY 712 - Psychometrics
PSY 714 - History and Foundations of Clinical Psychology
PSY 715 - Assessment of Children
PSY 716 - Assessment of Adults
PSY 725 - Intervention with Children
PSY 726 - Intervention with Adults
PSY 736 - Psychopathology
PSY 750 - Diversity in Professional Psychology
PSY 755 - Ethics and Professional Issues

Research Methods and Statistics Courses – Credits: 9

PSY 707 - Research Methods
PSY 708 - Statistics for Psychologists I
PSY 709 - Statistics for Psychologists II

Practicum – Credits: 6

PSY 767 - Practicum

Thesis – Credits: 6

PSY 769 - Thesis

After successfully completing the requirements above, students are eligible to earn the Master of Arts – Psychology.

Scientific Breadth in Psychology Courses – Credits: 12

PSY 701 - Biological Bases of Behavior
PSY 703 - Cognitive Psychology
PSY 704 - Social Psychology
PSY 721 - Developmental Science

Elective Courses – Credits: 6

Complete 6 credits of 700-level Psychology courses. Other 700-level courses offered by other departments may be taken with approval of the student's advisor and the Clinical Program Committee.

Practicum – Credits: 12

PSY 767 - Practicum

Internship – Credits: 6

Complete a full calendar year APA-approved clinical psychology internship.

PSY 771 - Professional Internship

Dissertation – Credits: 12

PSY 770 - Dissertation

Degree Requirements

1. En route to doctoral candidacy the student must complete the requirements for a master's degree in psychology, and complete 6 credits of thesis over a minimum of 2 semesters. The thesis must be proposed and defended orally.

2. In addition to a master's degree in Psychology equivalent to the one previously described (48 credits), a minimum of 48 semester hours in graduate psychology is required for the doctoral degree.

3. Comprehensive Examination. The Comprehensive examination for the doctoral program will consist of an examination administered once each year. Students may take the exam after they have completed 66 credits and the Master’s thesis.

5. Students must obtain a grade of B- or better in each course taken for that course to count toward the degree. One grade below a B- (i.e. C+ or lower) will result in probation. Once on probation for receiving a grade below a B-, a second grade (in the same or different classes) below a B-, will result in immediate separation from the program. If a student re-takes a course in which s/he received a grade lower than a B- (i.e. C+ or lower) and earns a B- or better, s/he will be removed from probation. A student may only be on academic probation twice during their graduate career in Psychology; a third probation will result in separation from the program. No student shall be allowed more than two simultaneous grades of incomplete, except in the case of a documented and approved medical leave.

6. Students must conform to all policies of the UNLV Graduate College, as stated in the UNLV Graduate Catalog, those stated in the UNLV Clinical Psychology Doctoral Program Student Handbook, and the American Psychological Association Code of Ethics. Students will be evaluated at least yearly across several professional competencies. Inadequate performance in one or more may result in the imposition of additional requirements, loss of Graduate Assistantship, probation, or separation from the program.

7. Transfer Credits. Admitted clinical students may transfer credits from graduate studies in other programs contingent upon departmental approval and in accordance with Graduate College policy.

8. The dissertation must be orally proposed and defended.

Graduation Requirements

1. The student must submit all required forms to the Graduate College and then apply for graduation up to two semesters prior to completing his/her degree requirements for both the Master’s and Doctoral portions of the program.

2. The student must submit and successfully defend his/her thesis by the posted deadline. The defense must be advertised and is open to the public. Student must submit his/her approved, properly formatted hard-copy thesis to the Graduate College, and submit the approved electronic version to ProQuest by the posted deadline.

3. The student must submit and successfully defend his/her dissertation by the posted deadline. The defense must be advertised and is open to the public. Student must submit his/her approved, properly formatted hard-copy dissertation to the Graduate College, and submit the approved electronic version to ProQuest by the posted deadline.

Subplan 2 Requirements: Post-Master’s - Clinical Psychology Track

Total Credits Required: 75

Course Requirements

Clinical Foundation Courses – Credits: 18-27

Complete 18-27 credits from the following list of courses:

PSY 712 - Psychometrics
PSY 714 - History and Foundations of Clinical Psychology

PSY 750 - Diversity in Professional Psychology
PSY 755 - Ethics and Professional Issues

Research Methods and Statistics Courses – Credits: 0-9
Complete 0-9 credits from the following list of courses:

PSY 707 - Research Methods
PSY 708 - Statistics for Psychologists I
PSY 709 - Statistics for Psychologists II

Scientific Breadth in Psychology Courses – Credits: 3-12

Complete 3-12 credits from the following list of courses:

PSY 701 - Biological Bases of Behavior
PSY 703 - Cognitive Psychology
PSY 704 - Social Psychology
PSY 721 - Developmental Science

Practicum – Credits: 18

PSY 767 - Practicum

Internship – Credits: 6

Complete a full calendar year APA-approved clinical psychology internship.

PSY 771 - Professional Internship

Dissertation – Credits: 12

PSY 770 - Dissertation

Degree Requirements

1. Students must complete a minimum of 75 credit hours with a minimum GPA of 3.00. Additional credits may be required to address student deficiencies or build specialized expertise.

2. The number of required Clinical Foundation Courses, Research Methods and Statistics Courses, and Scientifics Breadth in Psychology Courses will be determined in consultation with the Director of Clinical Training. Additional credits may be required to address student deficiencies or build specialized expertise.

3. Comprehensive Examination. The Comprehensive examination for the doctoral program will consist of an examination administered once each year. Students may take the exam after they have completed 45 credits.

4. Students must obtain a grade of B- or better in each course taken for that course to count toward the degree. One grade below a B- (i.e. C+ or lower) will result in probation. deadline. The defense must be advertised and is open to the public.

3. The student must submit his/her approved, properly formatted hard-copy dissertation to the Graduate College, and submit the approved electronic version to ProQuest by the posted deadline.

Subplan 3 Requirements: Post-Bachelor's - Experimental Psychology - Quantitative/Experimental Emphasis Track

Total Credits Required: 72

Course Requirements

Required Courses – Credits: 12

PSY 707 - Research Methods
PSY 708 - Statistics for Psychologists I
PSY 709 - Statistics for Psychologists II
PSY 756 - Ethics, Professional Issues, and Diversity in Experimental Psychology

Proseminar Course – Credits: 6

Complete the following course each semester during the first two years of study.

PSY 758 - Proseminar in Experimental Psychology

Breadth Courses – Credits: 3

Complete one of the following courses:

PSY 701 - Biological Bases of Behavior
PSY 703 - Cognitive Psychology
PSY 704 - Social Psychology
PSY 705 - Developmental Psychology

Elective Courses – Credits: 6

Complete 6 credits of 700-level Psychology courses, or 600/700-level advisor-approved courses offered by other departments.

Thesis – Credits: 6

PSY 769 - Thesis

After successfully completing the requirements above, students are eligible to earn the Master of Arts – Psychology.

Breadth Courses – Credits: 3

Complete one of the remaining courses that have not been applied to the master's degree:

PSY 701 - Biological Bases of Behavior
PSY 703 - Cognitive Psychology
PSY 704 - Social Psychology
PSY 705 - Developmental Psychology

Elective Courses – Credits: 24

Complete 24 credits of 700-level Psychology courses, or 600/700-level advisor-approved courses offered by other departments.

Two electives typically taken by students are:

3. Student will be required to complete a Qualifying Activity before proposing a Dissertation. The purpose of the qualifying activity is for the student to acquire not only the expertise in a given area, but the ability to explain, discuss, and debate questions within that and related areas. Students may choose, in consultation with their advisor, from the following qualifying activities: one extensive qualifying paper, three brief papers, or a written examination.

4. The Comprehensive Examination for the doctoral program will consist of an examination administered once each year. Students may take the exam after they have completed 66 credits and the Master's thesis.

5. Students must obtain a grade of B- or better in each course taken for that course to count toward the degree. One grade below a B- (i.e. C+ or lower) will result in probation. Once on probation for receiving a grade below a B-, a second grade (in the same or different classes) below a B-, will result in immediate separation from the program. If a student re-takes a course in which s/he received a grade lower than a B- (i.e. C+ or lower) and earns a B- or better, s/he will be removed from probation. A student may only be on academic probation twice during their graduate career in Psychology; a third probation will result in separation from the program. No student shall be allowed more than two simultaneous grades of incomplete, except in the case of a documented and approved medical leave.

6. Students must conform to all policies of the UNLV Graduate College, as stated in the UNLV Graduate Catalog, those stated in the UNLV Experimental Psychology Doctoral Program Student Handbook, and the American Psychological Association Code of Ethics. Students will be evaluated at least yearly across several professional competencies in the following three areas: (1) academic performance; (2) scholarly research activity; and (3) ethical behavior and professional conduct. If the program determines that a student is not making satisfactory progress toward the degree, it may request the Graduate Dean to separate the student from the program or place the student on probation. Failure to meet the conditions of the probation will result in separation from the program.

7. Students must take a minimum of four semesters of dissertation which can include summers. The dissertation must be orally proposed and defended.

Graduation Requirements

1. The student must submit all required forms to the Graduate College and then apply for graduation up to two semesters prior to completing his/her degree requirements for both the Master's and Doctoral portions of the program.

2. The student must submit and successfully defend his/her thesis by the posted deadline. The defense must be advertised and is open to the public.

3. Student must submit his/her approved, properly formatted hard-copy thesis to the Graduate College, and submit the approved electronic version to ProQuest by the posted deadline.

4. The student must submit and successfully defend his/her dissertation by the posted deadline. The defense must be advertised and is open to the public.

5. Student must submit his/her approved, properly formatted hard-copy dissertation to the Graduate College, and submit the approved electronic version to ProQuest by the posted deadline.

Subplan 7 Requirements: Post-Master's - Experimental Psychology - Quantitative/Experimental Emphasis Track

Total Credits Required: 53

Course Requirements

Required Courses – Credits: 3-12

Complete 3-12 credits from the following list of courses:

884 University of Nevada, Las Vegas
PSY 707 - Research Methods
PSY 708 - Statistics for Psychologists I
PSY 709 - Statistics for Psychologists II
PSY 756 - Ethics, Professional Issues, and Diversity in Experimental Psychology

Proseminar Course – Credits: 0-6

Complete the following course each semester during the first two years of study.

PSY 758 - Proseminar in Experimental Psychology

Breadth Courses – Credits: 0-6

Complete 0-6 credits from the following list of courses:

PSY 701 - Biological Bases of Behavior
PSY 703 - Cognitive Psychology
PSY 704 - Social Psychology
PSY 705 - Developmental Psychology

Elective Courses – Credits: 14-24

Complete 14-24 credits of 700-level Psychology courses, or 600/700-level advisor-approved courses offered by other departments.

Two electives typically taken by students are:

PSY 757 - Teaching of Psychology
PSY 772 - Experimental Psychology Qualifying Paper Research

Dissertation – Credits: 12

PSY 770 - Dissertation

Degree Requirements

1. Students must complete a minimum of 53 credit hours with a minimum GPA of 3.00. Additional credits may be required to address student deficiencies or build specialized expertise.

2. The number of Required, Proseminar, Breadth, and Elective credits will be determined in consultation with the Experimental Program Director. Additional credits may be required to address student deficiencies or build specialized expertise.

Plan Graduation Requirements

Refer to your subplan for Graduation Requirements.

Psychology Courses

PSY 606 - Intermediate Statistics
Credits 3
Theory and application of parametric and non-parametric statistical inference, including special correlation methods.

Notes This course is crosslisted with PSY 406. Credit at the 600-level requires additional work.

Prerequisites Admitted PhD Psychology students only.

PSY 620 - Psychology of Learning
Credits 3
Analysis of the principles, theories, and phenomena of learning.

Notes This course is crosslisted with PSY 420. Credit at the 600-level requires additional work.

Prerequisites Admitted PhD Psychology students only.

PSY 680 - Experimental Psychology
Credits 3
Graduate credit may be obtained for courses designated 600 or above. A full description of this course may be found in the UNLV Undergraduate Catalog under the corresponding 400 number.

Notes Credit at the 600-level requires additional work.

Prerequisites Admitted PhD Psychology students only.

PSY 681 - Principles of Psychological Testing
Credits 3
Theory, construction, and application of standard psychological tests.

Notes This course is crosslisted with PSY 481. Credit at the 600-level requires additional work.

Prerequisites Admitted PhD Psychology students only.

PSY 682 - History of Psychology
Credits 3
Study of the history of psychology.

Notes This course is crosslisted with PSY 482. Credit at the 600-level requires additional work.

Prerequisites Admitted PhD Psychology students only.
PSY 683 - Theories of Personality
Credits 3
Graduate credit may be obtained for courses designated 600 or above. A full description of this course may be found in the UNLV Undergraduate Catalog under the corresponding 400 number.
Notes Credit at the 600-level requires additional work.
Prerequisites Admitted PhD Psychology students only.

PSY 701 - Biological Bases of Behavior
Credits 3
A detailed examination of the biological processes that underlie behavior including basic structure and function of the nervous system, physiological bases of behavior, and neuroscience approaches to topics such as sensation, perception, learning, memory, emotion, sleep, and development.
Prerequisites Admitted PhD Psychology students only and consent of instructor.

PSY 702 - Sensation and Perception
Credits 3
Critical review of major theories and issues in perception research, including a discussion of psychophysical methods, general auditory perception, speech, vision, olfaction, gustation, and touch.
Prerequisites Admitted PhD Psychology students only and consent of instructor.

PSY 703 - Cognitive Psychology
Credits 3
Critical review of theory and findings in cognitive psychology, including an evaluation of research in attention, pattern recognition, the representation of events in memory, and language.
Prerequisites Admitted PhD Psychology students only and consent of instructor.

PSY 704 - Social Psychology
Credits 3
Overview of current theory and research in social psychology. Both the limitations and implications of social psychological theory explored using current research evidence. Topics include attitude change, social influence, attribution theory, social cognition, and cross-cultural perspectives.
Prerequisites Admitted PhD Psychology students only and PSY 460 and consent of instructor.

PSY 705 - Developmental Psychology
Credits 3
Survey of cognitive, social, and emotional development from birth through adolescence.
Prerequisites Admitted PhD Psychology students only and consent of instructor.

PSY 706 - History of Psychology
Credits 3
Examination of the forces which have shaped the development of the discipline and the practice of psychology, including antecedents in philosophy, physiology, and psychotherapy.
Prerequisites Admitted PhD Psychology students only and consent of instructor.

PSY 707 - Research Methods
Credits 3
Advanced treatment of the issues involved in planning, conducting, and evaluating research.
Prerequisites Admitted PhD Psychology students only and consent of instructor.

PSY 708 - Statistics for Psychologists I
Credits 3
Treatment of analysis of variance and multiple comparison methods applied to psychological research.
Prerequisites Admitted PhD Psychology students only.

PSY 709 - Statistics for Psychologists II
Credits 3
Treatment of correlation, multiple regression, chi-square, and analysis of covariance as applied to psychological research.
Prerequisites Admitted PhD Psychology students only.

PSY 710 - Multivariate Analysis in Psychology
Credits 3
Examination of multivariate statistical techniques including topics such as multivariate analysis of variance and covariance, discriminant function analysis, profile analysis, factor analysis, principal components analysis, and canonical correlation.
Prerequisites PSY 708 and PSY 709 or equivalent and admitted PhD Psychology students only.
PSY 711 - Advanced Seminar in Psychological Statistics
Credits 3
Examination of advanced statistical techniques such as nonparametric statistics, meta analysis, time-series analysis, and structural equation modeling.
Notes May be repeated to a maximum of 18 credits.
Prerequisites PSY 708 and PSY 709 or permission of the instructor.

PSY 712 - Psychometrics
Credits 3
Principles of evaluating and constructing psychological tests using psychometric theory and behavioral assessment methodology.
Prerequisites Admitted PhD Psychology students only.

PSY 713 - Developmental Research
Credits 3
Application of theory, methods, designs, analyses, and interpretation of research in developmental psychology.
Prerequisites Admitted PhD Psychology students only.

PSY 714 - History and Foundations of Clinical Psychology
Credits 3
An overview of the historical development of psychology as well as exploration of current theoretical and skills-based issues in clinical psychology.
Prerequisites Admitted PhD Psychology students only.

PSY 715 - Assessment of Children
Credits 3
Prerequisites Admitted PhD Psychology students only and limited to students enrolled in clinical psychology doctoral program.

PSY 716 - Assessment of Adults
Credits 3
Prerequisites Admitted PhD Psychology students only and limited to students enrolled in clinical psychology doctoral program.

PSY 717 - Cognitive Methods
Credits 3
Overview of cognitive and neuroscience research methods, including demonstrations of equipment and software that is used for conducting experiments and analyzing results.
Prerequisites Admitted PhD Psychology students only and consent of instructor.

PSY 718 - Cognitive Science
Credits 3
An exploration of topics related to cognition from fields such as perception, neuroscience, computational modeling, artificial intelligence, anthropology, and linguistics.
Prerequisites Admitted PhD Psychology students only and consent of instructor.

PSY 719 - Behavioral Neuroscience
Credits 3
Examines the neural basis of behavior including cellular, molecular, and genetic contributions. Topics will include neuronal cellular structure and function, neuroanatomy, experimental methods/techniques, and detailed investigations of the mechanisms involved in various behaviors and neurological/psychological disorders.
Prerequisites Admitted PhD Psychology students only and consent of instructor.

PSY 720 - Systems and Cognitive Neuroscience
Credits 3
Examines systems and cognitive neuroscience theories, methods, and data used to understand topics such as perception, attention, action, learning, memory, emotion, social behavior, language, music, and brain disorders.
Prerequisites Admitted PhD Psychology students only and consent of instructor.

PSY 721 - Developmental Science
Credits 3
Discussion and critical review of theoretical perspectives and issues in developmental psychology. Topics include aspects of physiological, cognitive, and social development.
Notes Can be taken for a maximum of 3 credits.

Prerequisites Admitted PhD Psychology students.

PSY 725 - Intervention with Children
Credits 3
Principles and methods of psychological intervention with children.
Prerequisites Admitted PhD Psychology students only and limited to students enrolled in clinical psychology doctoral program.

PSY 726 - Intervention with Adults
Credits 3
Principles and methods of psychological intervention with adults.
Prerequisites Admitted PhD Psychology students only and limited to students enrolled in clinical psychology doctoral program.

PSY 727 - Seminar in Clinical Psychology
Credits 3
In-depth study of selected topics in the science and practice of clinical psychology. Focuses on the etiology, assessment, and treatment of specific clinical disorders such as depression, anxiety-based disorders, autism, substance abuse, sexual dysfunctions and paraphilias, marital dysfunctions.
Notes May be repeated to a maximum of nine credits
Prerequisites Completion of year 1 of the Ph.D. Program. Consent of instructor. Admitted PhD Psychology students only.

PSY 735 - Counseling: Theory and Practice
Credits 3
Emphasis on counseling problems, techniques, and practice as well as historic and contemporary therapeutic theories. Includes supervised student counseling.
Prerequisites Admitted PhD Psychology students only and consent of instructor.

PSY 736 - Psychopathology
Credits 3
Advanced treatment of psychopathology covering description, diagnosis, classification, physiological factors, and psychodynamics.
Prerequisites Admitted PhD Psychology students only and consent of instructor.

PSY 737 - Child Psychopathology
Credits 3
Primary features, etiological theories, and epidemiology of behavior disorders in youth. Major diagnostic groupings covered include internalizing disorders (i.e., anxiety, depression, suicide, social withdrawal), externalizing disorders (i.e. ADHD, conduct disorder, substance abuse), pediatric problems, and developmental disabilities (e.g., autism, mental retardation).
Prerequisites Admitted PhD Psychology students only and consent of instructor.

PSY 740 - Topics in Developmental Psychology
Credits 3
Analysis of theoretical concepts and research pertinent to the development of the individual.
Notes May be repeated to a maximum of 12 credits.
Prerequisites Admitted PhD Psychology students only.

PSY 741 - Psychology and Health
Credits 3
In-depth study of selected topics in the science of health psychology and/or the practice of behavioral medicine. Emphasis on theoretical foundations and empirical findings. Topics permitting, instruction on the clinical practice of behavioral medicine.

PSY 742 - Psychopharmacology
Credits 3
In-depth study of the effects of psychoactive drugs on nervous system function and behavior. Topics include pharmacokinetics, pharmacodynamics, principles of neurotransmission, mechanisms of drug action, theoretical models of drug dependence and experimental approaches to psychopharmacology research.
Prerequisites Admitted PhD Psychology students only and consent of instructor.

PSY 743 - Human Sexuality
Credits 3
In-depth examination of the social and biological foundations of human sexuality. Includes detailed explorations of the latest research on the human sexual response, the relation of sexuality to psychological adjustment, variations in sexual behavior and identity, sexual dysfunction, and sociocultural issues.

Prerequisites Admitted PhD Psychology students only and consent of instructor.

PSY 744 - Neuropsychology

Credits 3

Provides in-depth examination of the area of neuropsychology to include information on the historical roots of neuropsychology, organization of the human nervous system, brain-behavior relationships, higher cognitive functions, assessment techniques, neuropathology, neurological conditions, report writing, and developing recommendations for treatment planning.

Prerequisites Admitted PhD Psychology students only and consent of instructor.

PSY 745 - Clinical Geropsychology

Credits 3

Assessment and psychological treatment of problems experienced in late life.

Prerequisites Admitted PhD Psychology students only and consent of instructor.

Sociology

The graduate faculty in Sociology consists of scholars/teachers who have earned doctorates at some of the leading graduate schools in the country. The Sociology department offers two graduate program tracks: a Ph.D. program for students who have already earned a Masters degree and a Bachelor's to Ph.D. track for qualified students who want to earn their MA and Ph.D. in Sociology at UNLV in a single program. We offer ten areas of specialization: (1) Family, Aging & the Life Course; (2) Culture; (3) Deviance & Criminology; (4) Environment & Health; (5) Race & Ethnic Studies; (6) Gender & Sexuality; (7) Politics & Social Movements; (8) Social Psychology & Theory; (9) Community & Urban Studies; and (10) Demography & Population Studies. The Ph.D. program, which began in 1989, has graduated scholars who hold positions in academia, the nonprofit sector, private industry and public service. Graduates from our Ph.D. program are trained in advanced theory and methods, and have well-developed expertise in at least two of our departmental areas of specialization. The Sociology department welcomes applications for the Ph.D. programs from candidates who can demonstrate a record of significant academic achievement and potential for professional success in sociology.

Doctor of Philosophy - Sociology

Plan Description

The Doctor of Philosophy – Sociology offers programs designed for both students holding a bachelor's degree in sociology or a closely related discipline who have a strong record of academic success, are likely to be highly successful in graduate school, and who have a professional interest in, and commitment to, earning a doctorate in Sociology and for students who have already earned a Master's degree in Sociology or a closely related discipline, and who can demonstrate evidence of substantial expertise in Sociology. This program trains students in advanced sociological concepts and applications, as well as advanced theoretical and methodological frameworks for conducting original research. In addition, students develop at least 2 advanced areas of specialization from among the department's core areas of specialization. Sociology doctoral students also have the opportunity to participate in our pedagogy and postsecondary teacher training program. Graduates of this program are well prepared for academic research and teaching positions, as well as careers in applied and community sociology.

Educational outcomes for our doctoral program include: development of expertise in both classical and contemporary sociological theories, mastery of both quantitative and qualitative research methods and data analysis, development of specialized expert knowledge in at least two substantive areas, professional socialization, participation in professional organizations, oral presentation skills, familiarity with the process of academic publication of original research, and cultivation of analytical research and writing skills which culminate in the ability to author an original doctoral dissertation of substantial depth and quality. Graduate-level course work in sociology is restricted to students with graduate standing or graduate provisional status in the department, or to those students who have obtained prior written consent from instructors of specific courses in which enrollment is sought and from the graduate coordinator. Please refer to the Sociology Graduate Student Handbook for additional updated information, policies, and procedures.

For more information about your program, including your graduate program handbook and learning outcomes, please visit the Degree Directory.

Plan Admission Requirements

Applications available on the UNLV Graduate College website.

1. All domestic and international applicants must review and follow the Graduate College Admission and Registration Requirements.

2. Applicants to the Post-Bachelor's track must hold a bachelor's degree in sociology from a regionally accredited institution is required. Applicants to the Post-Master's track must hold a master's degree in sociology, or an equivalent master's degree, from an accredited institution in which you wrote and successfully defended a master's thesis.

3. Applicants must submit the following to the Sociology department:
   1. Satisfactory scores that are less than 5 years old on the general Graduate Record Examination (GRE).
   2. At least 3 letters of recommendation, preferably from faculty members who know the student's work, evaluating the student's ability to perform at the Ph.D.-level of study. These should include comments on the student's academic performance, motivation, character, and promise for success in the Ph.D. program.
   3. A statement of purpose, written by the applicant that evidences all of the following: writing skills, professionalism, educational and professional/career objectives, and specific areas of interest in sociology generally, and in the UNLV Department of Sociology specifically.
   4. Writing Samples:
1. Post-Bachelor’s applicants: Two original writing samples of substantial length and quality that indicate student’s writing and analytical skills, as well as sociological knowledge.

2. Post-Master’s applicants: M.A.-level thesis or at least two original papers of substantial length and quality in an area of sociological inquiry solely written by the applicant.

If you are interested in applying for a Graduate Assistantship, please be sure to indicate this in your written statement, and complete and submit the Graduate Assistantship online application.

Students are accepted into a degree program as described in the Graduate Catalog. The faculty and corresponding sub-disciplines and sub-plans within the described programs are subject to change at any time.

Plan Requirements

See Subplan Requirements below.

Subplan 1 Requirements: Post-Bachelor's Track

Total Credits Required: 72

Course Requirements

Required Courses – Credits: 20

SOC 701 - Logic of Social Inquiry
SOC 702 - Quantitative Methods
SOC 704 - Advanced Analytical Techniques
SOC 705 - Qualitative Methods
SOC 707 - Proseminar I
SOC 723 - Classical Sociological Theory
SOC 724 - Issues in Contemporary Sociological Theory

Elective Courses – Credits: 12

Complete 12 credits of elective coursework. Up to 3 credits can be flex credits and at least 9 credits must be SOC 700-level.

Professional Paper – Credits: 3

SOC 794 - Professional Paper

After successfully completing the requirements above, students are eligible to earn the Master of Arts – Sociology.

Advanced ProSeminar Course – Credits: 1

SOC 708 - Proseminar II

Elective Courses – Credits: 24

Complete 24 credits of elective coursework. Identify 2 areas of specialization among the department's core areas of study, and complete a minimum of 6 credits in each area. Up to 6 credits can be flex credits and at least 18 credits must be SOC 700-level.

Dissertation – Credits: 12

SOC 799 - Dissertation

Degree Requirements

1. Of the 60 required course credit hours, a maximum of 9 hours may be used as flex credits toward any combination of the following: Independent Study; Directed Reading; an approved 600-level Sociology course that is unavailable at the 700 level; and/or an approved 700 level course in a related discipline.

2. A minimum of 63 credits must be completed in 700-level Sociology courses, including dissertation credits.

3. Students are strongly encouraged to enroll in SOC 709 – Learning to Teach Sociology. Doctoral students who have completed their comprehensive exams and SOC 709 may be eligible for autonomous teaching. Doctoral students teaching their own autonomous courses must be simultaneously enrolled in SOC 710 – Teaching Practicum, Teaching Practicum; after one semester of taking SOC
4. Any grade below a B will not be accepted for graduate credit. A grade below a B will result in probation. If a student receives two grades below a B, in the same or different courses, s/he will be separated from the program.

5. A student may be on academic probation a maximum of two times during their graduate career in Sociology; a third probation will result in separation from the program.

6. No student shall be allowed more than 2 simultaneous grades of Incomplete, except in the case of documented and approved emergency or medical leave.

7. In consultation with his/her advisor, a student will organize a dissertation committee of at least three departmental members. In addition, a fourth member from outside the department, known as the Graduate College Representative, must be appointed. An additional committee member may be added at the student and department’s discretion. Please see Graduate College policy for committee appointment guidelines.

8. Post-Bachelor’s students must complete 3 credits of Professional Paper before defending their Professional Paper and submitting it to a reputable sociology journal for peer review. Students will establish an Examination Committee, hold a professional paper proposal meeting, author and defend an original piece of research or theory which is then signed-off on by committee members and submitted for peer-review to a reputable sociology journal. The paper need not be accepted for publication for the student to continue matriculating in the program, but the manuscript must make a significant scholarly contribution and be of a high enough quality to merit peer review.

1. Students must orally present and defend their completed professional paper to her or his Examination Committee, and receive majority approval. There are 5 possible grades for the comprehensive exams: Pass with Distinction; Pass; Conditional Pass with Rewrites (to be completed within two weeks of notification); Terminal Pass (pass but separated from program after graduation); or Fail.

2. After a successful defense of their professional paper, students must receive signatures of support from their Committee Chair and a majority of other Committee members prior to submitting their article manuscript to an approved peer-review sociology journal.

3. Students may complete this stage of the program only after successfully completing all 20 required credits, as well as a minimum of 12 credits of electives (including up to 3 flex credits).

4. Students may not take any comprehensive exams or complete more than 40 course credits before successfully completing this step in the program.

5. Students who do not successfully complete this requirement in a timely manner (before completing 40 credits) will be placed on probation.

6. After successful completion of all required courses (a minimum of 32 total course credits), 3 credits of professional paper, and this professional paper process (proposal, research, writing, oral defense and journal submission), students must submit all required paperwork to the Graduate College for completion of the Master of Arts in Sociology.

9. Post-Bachelor’s students who, for personal, professional or academic reasons, decide not to continue on for a Ph.D. may be eligible for an optional exit plan with a Masters degree.

10. Dissertation credits may only be taken after the student successfully defends his/her dissertation prospectus and submits required paperwork to the Graduate College. Students may not take more than 6 dissertation credits per semester.

11. In addition to a minimum of 60 hours of course work, 12 hours of dissertation credits, and successful completion of the professional paper process as described above, a doctoral student must successfully pass 2 comprehensive examinations in their chosen areas of specialization. Students should refer to the detailed guidelines governing the comprehensive exam process in the Graduate Programs Handbook (see Appendix 1).

   1. The Area of Specialization comprehensive exams will be offered once a semester; students may only take 1 of these exams per semester. Intention to take a comprehensive exam must be given to the graduate coordinator and senior management assistant by the second week of the semester in which students intend to take the exam.

   2. Students may not take a comprehensive exam until they have completed all required course work in these areas.

   3. These specialty area comprehensive exams should reflect logical and substantive depth and breadth of knowledge of these areas. Students are expected to prepare for the comprehensive exams by reviewing class materials, meeting with their Graduate Advisory Committee, meeting with faculty sitting on the Areas of Specialization committees, looking at copies of old exams, and doing systematic independent preparation.

   4. There are 4 possible grades for the comprehensive exams: Pass with Distinction; Pass; Conditional Pass with Rewrites (to be completed within two weeks of notification); or Fail.

   5. A student must retake a failed comprehensive exam within one semester and successfully pass on the second attempt in order to remain in the program. A second failure in the same area will result in separation from the program. During the period of time between the initial Fail on a comprehensive exam and the re-take, the student may not take any other comprehensive exams.

   6. Both comprehensive exams must be completed prior to the student's dissertation prospectus defense and advancement to candidacy.

Graduation Requirements

1. The student must submit all required forms to the Graduate College and then apply for graduation up to two semesters prior to completing his/her degree requirements for both the Master's and Doctoral portions of the program.

2. Doctoral students are required to complete a minimum of 12 credits of dissertation credits: SOC 799 - Dissertation, write an original dissertation of substantial quality and length on a sociological topic, and successfully defend this work in front of the student's Graduate Advisory Committee.

   1. Students must work with their Graduate Advisory Committee to ensure quality research, analysis and writing of the comprehensive exams and dissertation.

   2. Satisfactory performance on an oral defense of the dissertation prospectus to be held after the successful completion of all course work and the four comprehensive examinations is required. The oral defense will cover the student's dissertation proposal and any deficiencies on the comprehensive exams or in the student's program of study. Upon successful completion of the oral defense of the dissertation prospectus, the student may advance to candidacy and enroll in dissertation credits.

3. Upon completion of the dissertation, a final oral defense will be held in front of the student's Graduate Advisory Committee.

4. Committee members must unanimously pass the student on her or his oral defense for the Ph.D. to be conferred.

3. The student must submit and successfully defend his/her dissertation by the posted deadline. The defense must be advertised and is open to the public.

4. Student must submit his/her approved, properly formatted hard-copy dissertation to the Graduate College, and submit the approved electronic version to ProQuest by the posted deadline.

Prerequisites Advancement to candidacy in Sociology Ph.D. program and consent of instructor.

World Languages and Cultures

The focus on language, literature, and culture in the Spanish M.A. program offers a variety of study options in order to meet the growing demand for students who seek to acquire not only a humanistic preparation in a second language but also the necessary tools for an important practical application of a second language to their future careers. These include, among many others, areas such as public and private school teaching, communications, business, law, medicine, or further graduate studies at another institution of higher learning. Enrollment in small seminars allows students to interact easily with peers and create productive mentor relationships with the faculty.

Master of Arts - Hispanic Studies

Plan Description

The M.A. program in Hispanic Studies is flexible, allowing students to concentrate on culture, language, literature, and translation. The program aims to meet the needs of students interested in teaching and other professions.

For more information about your program, including your graduate program handbook and learning outcomes, please visit the Degree Directory.

Plan Admission Requirements

Applications available on the UNLV Graduate College website.

Before acceptance into the program, students will take a pre-qualifying examination administered by the department that will test their Spanish language skills. Students must pass this examination before being officially admitted to the M. A. program. The exam may be retaken once.

Candidates for admission to the graduate program in foreign languages should have the equivalent of the UNLV undergraduate major in the corresponding language with a minimum grade point average of 3.00 in the major field. In some cases, a student who has a bachelor's degree in another discipline could be admitted to the program upon the recommendation of the department graduate advisor. Possible transfer credit will be determined by the graduate coordinator in accordance with the policies of the Graduate College. To apply for admission, submit to the Graduate College an application, official transcripts of all college-level work, and two letters of recommendation. Applicants must also take a pre-qualifying Spanish grammar administered by the Department.

All domestic and international applicants must review and follow the Graduate College Admission and Registration Requirements.

Students are accepted into a degree program as described in the Graduate Catalog. The faculty and corresponding sub-disciplines and sub-plans within the described programs are subject to change at any time.

Plan Requirements

Total Credits Required: 33

Course Requirements

Required Linguistics Course – Credits: 3

Complete one of the following courses:

FOL 714 - Current Issues in Second Language Acquisition
SPAN 717 - Seminar in Spanish Linguistics

Required Courses – Credits: 6

SPAN 709 - Writing Workshop
SPAN 720 - Textual Analysis

Elective Courses – Credits: 18-21

A variety of courses in language, linguistics, literature, and culture will be offered to allow students to complete their degree. Students completing the Comprehensive Written Examination must complete a minimum of 21 credits of elective coursework, and students completing the Research Project must complete a minimum of 18 credits of elective coursework.

Culminating Experience – Credits: 3-6

Select one of the following:

SPAN 798 - M. A. Written Examination
SPAN 797 - M. A. Written Project (6 credits)

Degree Requirements

1. Completion of a minimum of 33 credit hours with a minimum GPA of 3.00.
2. Students may apply a maximum of 9 credits at the 600-level to their graduate program.
3. Courses taken for graduate credit may not be repeated, with the exception of SPAN 730 and SPAN 740, provided that topics change.
Graduate courses may not be audited without the consent of the instructor. A grade below a B- will place a student on probation. A second grade below a B- will cause a student to be separated from the program.

Plan Graduation Requirements

1. The student must submit all required forms to the Graduate College and then apply for graduation up to two semesters prior to completing his/her degree requirements for the program.
2. To qualify for graduation, each student must successfully pass a written examination or complete a final research project.
   a. Written Examination: Students choosing the written examination option must include SPAN 798 in their program. After completing 21 credits, students, in consultation with the graduate coordinator, will choose for their examination three of the following six areas of concentration: Peninsular culture, Latin American culture, linguistics, Peninsular literature, Latin American literature, and translation theory. Once these areas are chosen they may not be changed, nor may the option be changed. The exam will be based on the courses taken as well as on a supplementary list of readings for each area available in the department. The exam will include three 90-minute sections drafted by the examination committee. Grammatical accuracy will also be a graded component of the exam. After passing all three parts of the written exam, students will take an oral examination covering these chosen areas. Students who do not pass any part(s) of the exam will be allowed to retake the failed part(s) only once. Students who do not pass all three parts and the oral examination the second time will be separated from the program.
   b. Final Research Project: Students with at least a 3.8 GPA may (upon the approval of the Spanish graduate coordinator) substitute a final project (six credits of SPAN 797) for the written examination. Before initiating the project, students will establish a three-member faculty examination committee and secure their approval of the project proposals. If the proposal is rejected twice, the student must take the written examination option. When accepted projects are completed, students will take the Final Examination, an oral examination covering the final project. The committee shall consist of the project director, two other members of the graduate faculty, and the graduate faculty representative. Students whose projects are not acceptable for defense will be allowed to resubmit their project the following semester. Students who do not secure approval the second time will be separated from the program. More detailed guidelines will be distributed to enrolled students.
