

William S. Boyd School of Law

The William S. Boyd School of Law, which commenced classes in August 1998, is the first state-supported law school in Nevada history, and the only law school in the state. The school offers three Juris doctor degree programs: a part-time evening program, a part-time day program, and a full-time, day program and three dual degree programs: a J.D./M.B.A., J.D./M.S.W. and J.D./Ph.D. in Education. These programs are designed to train ethical and effective lawyers and leaders for Nevada and for the legal profession. The curriculum is designed to stress professionalism, community service, and dispute avoidance/dispute resolution through a combination of skills training and traditional pedagogy and exposure to different public policy players and sources of law. College of Law.

The mission of the William S. Boyd School of Law is to prepare students for the competent and ethical practice of law. At the same time, the Boyd School of Law recognizes that the skills and knowledge acquired in the Juris doctor program may be transferred easily to other fields of endeavor and that many students seek legal training for the value it may have in pursuits other than the practice of law. The Boyd School of Law is dedicated to preserving, transmitting, and advancing the current state of legal knowledge, to developing programs which meet the changing needs of society, and to encouraging its graduates to apply the knowledge they gain for their own personal development and for the good of society. The curriculum responds to the needs of the students as well as the needs of the profession. In the early stages of legal education, the curriculum stresses professionalism, community service, and the roles and importance of lawyers in our society, all in an effort to acquaint students with the nature and nobility of the legal profession and with the opportunity that lawyers have to improve the society in which they live. Throughout the curriculum, emphasis is placed on writing, professionalism and community service. In our clinical and externship programs, the law school provides students with the opportunity of a substantial lawyering experience under close supervision.

Admission Requirements and Selecting Applicants

The Boyd School of Law seeks to enroll an accomplished and diverse group of women and men who will contribute to the enrichment of the school's educational program and to the community and the profession after graduation. We seek students who have demonstrated significant accomplishments in their lives, for example by achieving distinguished academic records as undergraduate or graduate students, by engaging successfully in important and demanding careers, by providing significant service to their communities or by meeting challenges associated with the applicant's race, ethnicity, gender, economic status, or disability. The faculty believes that the law school can and should have a student body that is both academically well-qualified and diverse. The presence in the school of students who have diverse backgrounds, attitudes, and interests contributes to the breadth and quality of the classroom and non-classroom dialogue that is a critical element to legal education.

In assessing applicants, the Admissions Committee looks to:

1. Academic Capability. To assess an applicant's undergraduate academic capability, the committee considers such factors as the applicant's undergraduate GPA, the trend of college grades, the difficulty of the applicant's course of undergraduate study, the quality and grading pattern of the undergraduate institution, the extent of work or other activities undertaken while in college, the date of the undergraduate degree, graduate studies, and performance on the Law School Admissions Test.

2. Nonacademic Accomplishments. The committee will consider evidence of significant accomplishments in extracurricular activities, employment, military service, and community service.
3. Individual Background. The committee will consider the applicant's state of residency, cultural, ethnic, racial and socioeconomic background, and evidence of significant handicaps overcome by the applicant. The committee will also consider any history of criminality or academic misconduct.

Applicants must:

1. have earned an undergraduate degree from an accredited four-year college or university;
2. have taken the Law School Admissions Test (LSAT);
3. register for and maintain an up-to-date file with the Law School Admission Council Credential Assembly Service (CAS). It is the responsibility of applicants to ensure that an official transcript from each institution they have attended is sent by that institution to CAS.
